

Figure S3: We display the frequency distribution of response times for different types of ties utilizing email transmissions among more than 500 MBA students over a 2-year period of time. Specifically, we only accounted for time intervals of < 1,000 hours. We conclude that social ties have shorter response times than professional ties.