The Living Experience

Community Living Standards for Undergrads 2025-2026

Statement Of Principles

Cornell University is committed to the overall educational and personal development of its students. The unique experience of living in a residential community contributes greatly to such development. To facilitate this goal, the residential communities have established the Residential Community Standards and Responsibilities and Community Living Standards, that are consistent with the educational mission of Cornell University.

The Community Living Standards apply to all students in on campus residential communities within Housing & Residential Life (including First-Year residences, Second-Year residences, Program Houses, and Upper-Level communities) and the West Campus House System.

Students residing in the residential communities are responsible for becoming familiar and complying with these Community Living Standards and the terms of their Housing License, as well as community procedures, regulations, and standards specific to their residential community. Students are also responsible for complying with all other Cornell University rules, regulations, policies, and procedures contained in official Cornell University publications and announcements that may be issued from time to time, including the Cornell University Student Code of Conduct and Cornell University Policy 6.4: Prohibited Bias, Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual and Related Misconduct, as well as all local, state, and federal laws.

Housing & Residential Life and the West Campus House System reserves the right to review all alleged violations of the Community Living Standards. While it is the goal of the conduct process to educate students about the purpose and importance of abiding by these policies, outcomes will also be issued as appropriate and necessary to ensure continued and/or future adherence.

It is worth noting, while not part of the Community Living Standards, per the Housing License, students who are administratively removed from on campus residential housing or reassigned to another residential community when in the judgment of a representative of Housing & Residential Life or the West Campus House System the student has engaged in or threatened acts of misconduct such that their continued presence would endanger public order or property, threaten the personal safety or security of others (by acts of physical or mental harassment or other means) or be sufficiently disruptive as to adversely affect the ability of others to pursue their educational goals.

Residents are responsible for the Terms and Conditions of the Housing License, and any additional attestations for living on campus. Please note that where any additional attestations differ from the Community Living Standards outlined below the attestation overrides the Community Living Standards. The full Housing License can be found at the Academic Year Housing License page. This includes responsibility for damage billing due to damages incurred to University property beyond normal wear and tear.

Any additional agreements, policies, and terms layer on top of the Community Living Standards and students are responsible for any agreements they sign in addition to the Community Living Standards outlined below.

Residential Community Living Standards and Responsibilities

To promote individual growth and to be their best selves, behavior should be considerate and respectful of other community members and the physical space. We encourage debate and discourse in the spirit of understanding and promote this freedom and responsibility. This understanding and responsibility includes respecting and being sensitive to the rights of others while not condoning messages or actions that promote hatred, intolerance, or violence.

Each resident is expected to:

- Respect the rights of others.
- Respect the property of individuals, groups, and Cornell University.
- Refrain from activities that interfere with the regular operation of Cornell University.
- Present identification upon the request of an authorized Cornell University official.
- Comply with reasonable requests from residential staff and University officials acting in the capacity of their positions.

Conduct Procedures for Alleged Violations of the Community Living Standards

Student Rights

Students have the following rights within the Community Living Standards conduct process:

- Notification of the Community Living Standards
- Timely process
- Response
- Confidentiality (consistent with law)
- Advisor/Support Person

Student Responsibilities

When an alleged violation of Community Living Standards occurs:

- It is the responsibility of each resident to respond to and meet with the Residence Hall Director (RHD) or House Assistant Dean (HAD) in a timely manner. RHDs and HADs are full-time professional staff members who live in the communities and manage the day-to-day operations, including supporting students and ensuring Community Living Standards are upheld. The meeting's purpose is for the student to respond to charges or to clarify the alleged violation.
- It is the student's responsibility to provide any necessary supporting documentation or witnesses on their behalf.
- Each student is responsible for keeping appointments. If the student does not attend a scheduled appointment, the appointment may proceed as scheduled with a review of the case and the issuance of educational outcomes as necessary and appropriate in the student's absence. If there are emergency circumstances beyond the student's control, advance permission to postpone an appointment may be allowed.
- When asked by Cornell University staff members and/or law enforcement officials (e.g., the Cornell University Police, Ithaca Police, or HRL or West Campus staff), it is the responsibility of each resident to comply with University officials by relinquishing any contraband materials and/or items and providing identification.
- Complete and submit assigned educational outcomes by the assigned deadline
- Failure to complete may result in additional charges of violations of the Community Living Standards or referral to the Office of Student Conduct and Community Standards.

Advisor/Support Person

- Each student involved in an alleged Community Living Standards violation has the right to have advisor or support person present at any meetings.
- The advisor/support person is there to assist and advise the student.

- The advisor/support person may not speak on behalf of the student.
- The advisor/support person may not be involved as an involved party (respondent, complainant, witness) in the case.
- By accepting the role of advisor/support person, that person agrees to comply with these rules and processes outlined in the Procedures.
- The student must inform the RHD or HAD at least 24 hours in advance that they will have an advisor/support person.

Charge of Alleged Violation

A complaint against a resident may be brought by another resident, a guest of a resident, a member of the Housing & Residential Life or West Campus House System (WCHS) staff, any affected parties, other administrative offices, or persons not affiliated with Cornell University.

Students wishing to make a complaint can speak with their Residence Hall Director (RHD), House Assistant Dean (HAD), or representatives from Residential Life or the WCHS.

Information Gathering

The RHD, HAD, or a designee in their absence will investigate complaints of a violation of the Community Living Standards in a residential community.

Notification to Student

If the RHD, HAD, or designee determines a student conduct meeting is warranted for the alleged violation(s) of Community Living Standards, the student will be notified of the meeting and specific charges.

Student Conduct Meeting

When the student meets with the RHD, HAD, or their designee, the meeting will include the following steps:

1. Review of student's rights and responsibilities
2. Review of student conduct procedure
3. Review of incident and alleged violations
4. Fact-Finding discussion

5. Determination of Responsibility - The RHD, HAD, or designee will determine if a violation of the Community Living Standards occurred based on a “preponderance of evidence” standard (meaning, a policy violation is more likely than not, or, 51% likely vs. 49% unlikely to have occurred).
6. Notification of Next Steps - If a student is found responsible for a violation, this includes a discussion exploring appropriate educational outcomes. Specific educational outcomes are assigned based on the incident’s nature and the Community Living Standards violation(s). The student receives notification of assigned outcomes and relevant details such as due dates and instructions for completion.

The above process may sometimes extend over multiple meetings.

Outcomes

Educational outcomes may include, but are not limited to, community service, reflection or research papers, facilitating a program in the community, creating a bulletin board, letters of apology, referrals to other agencies for alcohol or other drug education, and/or status changes in your Housing License up to and including termination of your Housing License.

Appeals

Appeals must be submitted in writing within five (5) business days of the date the outcome letter is sent.

Students may submit an appeal under the following conditions:

- the student’s rights as outlined in the conduct process were not met, or
- new information about the incident is available that may change the original outcome decision.

If the above conditions are not met, an appeal meeting will not be granted.

Appeals are addressed by the Assistant Director of Student Behavior and Support or designee in Residential Life or two HADs in the WCHS (from Houses other than where the original incident was adjudicated). After meeting with the student to discuss the appeal, the student will receive notification in writing of the appeal outcome within five (5) business days of the meeting.

Appeals should be submitted to cls-appeal@cornell.edu.

Students should be prepared to complete assigned outcomes according to the original due date if the appeal decision does not change the original conduct meeting decision.

Recordkeeping

The conduct procedures for alleged Community Living Standards violation(s) are not considered part of a student's Cornell University conduct record.

Student records pertaining to the Community Living Standards conduct process are retained internally by Housing & Residential Life and the WCHS and are referenced if subsequent allegations of violating the Community Living Standards occur.

Jurisdictional Timeframe

All violations must be adjudicated in a timely manner from when received by Housing & Residential Life and the West Campus House System.

Community Living Standards

Housing & Assignment Policies

A. Winter Break

1. Residents must comply with all directives related to breaks when housing facilities are closed.
2. Due to the length of the time that residents will be away from their room during Winter Break, the following is a list of tasks that must be completed before the resident leaves campus for the Winter Break (this list may change based on community and residents will be notified of what is expected prior to the Winter Break):
 1. Clean room
 2. Take all trash and recycling to the trash room/dumpster
 3. Unplug all electronic devices and surge protectors from wall outlets
 1. Mini-fridges may remain plugged in during the break, but any items that will expire should be disposed of before you leave.
 4. Turn off lights
 5. Take keys, ID card, and documents you need for travel
 6. Lock door
3. Residential communities are scheduled to open and close on specific dates as noted in the Housing License; early arrivals and late departures are generally not permitted.

1. If leaving at the end of the fall semester and not returning for the spring semester, residents must make arrangements to move out by date outlined in the Housing License.
2. If returning for the spring semester, residents must vacate the building by the date and time outlined in the Housing License for closing, and only need to take belongings needed for the Winter Break.
3. When exceptions are made, students may be charged additional fees based on an hourly or daily rate. During Winter Break, all residential communities are closed except for High Rise 5, Hu Shih Hall, Jerome Holland International Living Center, Loving House, Mews Hall, Toni Morrison Hall, Townhouse Community, and Veterans House, which is open depending on space availability and prior approval. Housing & Residential Life may designate other residential communities to remain open over the Winter Break.
4. No one is permitted in the halls during closed break periods without written approval from Housing staff.

B. Census Report

It is important that Housing & Residential Life has an accurate account of who is living in which room to ensure correct billing and in case of emergencies/evacuations to ensure everyone is safely out of the building. The census report confirms the occupancy of each residential building.

1. All residents must participate in the census reporting throughout the academic year as directed by Housing and Residential Life.

C. Room Changes

1. Students must follow the proper room assignment change process.
2. Students must not change rooms until a room change application has been approved by Housing & Residential Life.
3. Refusing to accept or impeding an effort by the Housing Office to make an assignment to a vacant space is prohibited.
4. If a student switches rooms without permission, they may lose the right to live on campus, and will need to return to their original room assignment.
5. Students may not attempt to coerce or intimidate another student into switching room assignment.
6. Students may not offer to or accept compensation from other student(s) in order to facilitate a room assignment change.

7. Students may be required to move from their rooms in a designated amount of time as required by Housing & Residential Life or the WCHS to address health and safety.

D. Room and Building Damages

1. Each resident is responsible for inspecting their room upon move-in. Any broken items or damages should be reported via a work order and an email to the full-time staff member of the building. When vacating, any damages noted during the move-out inspection that were not reported and that are beyond reasonable wear and tear for the time the resident was assigned the space are the resident's financial responsibility.
2. Residents are responsible for any damages to their assigned room. If the responsible individual does not take responsibility for damage done in a room, the damage cost will be split among all residents in the room/suite/apartment.
3. If a resident changes rooms or leaves the University, a staff member will inspect the room when it is vacated. Damages will be documented as Community Living Standards violations and will follow the same process as other conduct violations.
4. If a resident or guest is found to have caused damage to the building or University property, damages will be documented as Community Living Standards violations and will follow the same process as other conduct violations.

Fire Safety Policies

Fire Safety policies are subject to compliance changes and updates based on local and state regulated standards. Advance notice of changes/updates will be provided whenever possible.

A. Fire Safety Inspections

1. The University is subject to fire and safety inspections by various agencies. If a fine is incurred due to the student's failure to comply with the terms of their Housing License or with any request from University staff, the student will be responsible for the fine.
2. Any material in violation of the Community Living Standards is subject to confiscation during fire and safety inspections. Confiscated fire safety violations will be identified by room, kept by the RHD/HAD, and will be held for seven calendar days from the date of the email notification. Students must arrange to pick up item and immediately ship item or remove from campus. Other items (such as alcohol, cannabis, weapons, etc.) that violate the Student Code of Conduct will be confiscated and disposed or turned over to CUPD.

3. Students are responsible for presenting documentation of fire retardance compliance for items such as upholstered furniture, tapestries, etc.
4. University safety plans can be reviewed online.

B. Fire Drills and Alarms

1. The University conducts periodic evacuation drills to practice education and safe exiting from buildings. Everyone must exit from the building when the fire alarm is activated and cannot re-enter the building until given permission by University personnel. Evacuation plans are posted at elevators, stairs, and exit points throughout the buildings. These plans will indicate means to exit the building safely. All persons should be familiar with the procedures for evacuating a building.
2. Failure to evacuate during a fire alarm in a timely manner will result in a conduct referral.

Residence and Room Environment

A. Bed Elevating

Homemade, rented lofts, or cinder blocks of any kind are not permitted in any residence hall, unless provided by SCL Facilities.

1. Beds cannot be placed directly under a sprinkler head or within 3 feet of the lowest point of a smoke or heat detector. If bunked beds are used in a room, the room shall have a minimum ceiling height of 7 feet and 6 inches. Beds also cannot cover more than 33% of the floor or exceed 36 square feet or obstruct any exit, window, door, heating equipment, or any other equipment that could create a fire hazard.
2. Rooms with 3 or more beds that are bunked or lofted at the time of move-in must remain in the same place where they have been positioned.
3. Beds cannot be lofted in Barbara McClintock Hall, Ecology House, Ganędagę: Hall, Hu Shih Hall, Ruth Bader Ginsberg Hall, Sheldon Court, Toni Morrison Hall, or Townhouse Community.
4. Residents wishing to have their beds lofted, bunked, or raised must submit a Maintenance Request through SCL Facilities. Requests for bed adjustments are accepted beginning September 1st.

B. Decorating Rooms

Resident rooms must be in the same condition upon departure, as they were upon arrival. Room damages or decorating violations will be assessed and charged against the resident(s) responsible. If a responsible resident does not come forward, the damage bill will be split among all residents of the room.

1. No more than one 8.5-inch by 11-inch sheet of paper, per resident, is allowed on the outside of a room door.
2. Pictures, posters, and other materials must be hung from picture moldings, tack strips, or bulletin boards only. Nails, tacks, screws, tape, glue, and other adhesives may not be used on walls, ceilings, wardrobes, woodwork, doors, or furniture. Note: many products that claim not to remove paint or damage surfaces still cause damage when removed.
3. Wallpaper of any kind is not allowed on walls or doors including contact or “removable” wallpaper.
4. Natural evergreen trees, wreaths, and boughs are prohibited. Artificial plants are also not allowed. Metal trees are acceptable, with illumination by spot or reflective lights only. All winter seasonal decorations must be removed prior to leaving for the intersession break.
5. Decorative strands of lights are permitted with an Underwriter’s Laboratories label or listing (UL) but should not be adhered to any walls or ceiling. Strands of lights cannot be plugged into each other (creating a “chain”).
6. Alterations (including but not limited to painting) to a room/apartment or to any University property within a room/apartment or common area is prohibited.
7. Hanging or extending anything outside the windows is prohibited.

13. No more than ten percent of the wall can be covered by decorations in compliance with fire code.
14. Windows in all resident rooms come already equipped with drapes, shades, or blinds. Residents may not hang their own window treatments in their rooms, unless material is fire rated and labeled as such (certification must be on file with the SCL Facilities Office).
15. Maintenance in resident rooms and common areas may only be completed by authorized staff.

C. Health and Safety

1. Residents must keep rooms in a sanitary condition. Food must be put away in closed containers. Rooms should be clean of any food scraps or crumbs that could attract insects/rodents. Food not stored correctly attracts pests into the buildings and rooms.
2. If a resident's room needs to be accessed by a University Official (including, but not limited to, emergency maintenance, pest control, medical situations, or fire safety inspections), residents may be required to remove excess items from their floor and furniture tops. Twenty-four-hour advance notification will be given whenever possible. Failure to complete the requested tasks could result in residents being charged for the tasks to be completed by SCL Facilities or any fees associated with rescheduling the work, as well as conduct action.

2. Bodily fluids and biohazards are not permitted in trash and recycling containers.

B. Building Egress

1. Egress access must always be safe and passable, including in corridors, stairwells, lounges, other common and living spaces.

10. To ensure safe egress, personal items cannot be left in hallways or stairwells.

2. Fire Safety

1. Use of open flame is prohibited.
2. Tampering with fire extinguishers, sprinklers, fire and emergency doors, pull stations, and other fire safety equipment is prohibited.
3. Tampering with smoke detectors, including blocking, covering, or removing, is prohibited.
4. Destruction/damage to exit signage is prohibited.
5. Falsely reporting a fire verbally or by falsely pulling the fire alarm/pull station is prohibited.

1. Playing sports and using sports equipment is prohibited in all residential communities. Playing sports includes, but is not limited to, gymnastics, running, wrestling, dribbling, etc. Sports equipment includes, but is not limited to, basketballs, bikes, Frisbees, hacky sacks, toy guns (water, nerf, dart, paintball, etc.), scooters, skates, skateboards, sticks, balls for throwing/kicking, gloves, etc.

In order to help ensure the safety of the residents who live on campus and to maintain the security of residential buildings, only the individuals who are issued access are allowed without being escorted:

1. Keys must not be duplicated or loaned.
2. Residents must immediately notify the Service Center/House Office of lost keys/access cards.
3. Residential Life/WCHS staff and Service Center/House Office staff will not provide entry to a room for anyone other than a resident of that room, including parents/families, friends, guests, and/or other individuals. Exceptions may only be made in case of emergency as determined by a Residential Life or WCHS full-time staff member.
4. Residents are responsible for their building and room keys. University residences exterior doors are always locked.
5. Cornell University Police will not unlock doors for residents.

5. Occupancy Limits

Due to fire code standards and the ability to quickly evacuate, there are occupancy limits on all spaces. Communal spaces have occupancy signs denoting the occupancy for those spaces. For residential rooms please follow the outlined occupancy below:

1. Private rooms - within a resident's assigned room the occupancy limit (including room owners) is as follows. Single room 2 people, double room 4 people, triple room 6 people.
2. Suite common areas - In buildings where the suite has a common area appropriate for social gatherings (furnished to allow for people to socialize/gather) maximum occupancy is equal to the number of residents able to live in that suite. Example 7-person suite, suite common area occupancy limit is 7 people.
3. Townhouse apartment common areas – due to the Townhouse apartments having a larger common area (living room, dining room, kitchen), the occupancy limit for the Townhouse apartment common areas is 12 people.

*Note that if the room door is open to the public area of the building, the room is no longer considered private and those present must abide by rules related to public conduct.

6. Present during policy violation

While you cannot control the actions of others and you may not feel you have the agency to intercede yourself, it is important to take ownership over your own actions and act to stop harm to the community when you feel safe to do so. At those times, it is important to remove yourself from the area to not give the perception of acceptance of others actions that do not align with your own.

1. Residents may not knowingly be present in a space where there is an active policy violation

2. Prohibited Items

Due to concerns for the safety of everyone in our communities, certain items are prohibited in the University residences. These items could pose fire safety risks, health and safety risks, or other risks to the building and the residents.

B. Animals in Residence

In accordance with federal law, Cornell University allows qualified residents to have Service or Emotional Support Animal (ESA) in residence halls. Residents must first contact Student Disability Services (SDS) (<https://sds.cornell.edu/>) for approval. SDS will provide assistance in navigating the approval process, including selection of housing. Approval from SDS must be finalized before ESAs can be brought to campus.

1. Definitions

1. Emotional Support Animal

An ESA is an animal that alleviates one or more identified symptoms or effects of a person's disability. ESAs are distinct from service animals. ESAs must always remain in the owner's assigned room unless it is taken directly outside of the building.

2. Service Animal

NYS Human Rights Law defines a service animal as "any animal that has been trained or is being trained, by a qualified person, to aid or guide a person with a disability" and that "persons qualified to train dogs to aid and guide persons with a disability, while engaged in such training activities, shall have the same rights and privileges set forth for persons with a disability."

3. Pet

A pet is an animal, other than a fish for this policy, kept for companionship and does not assist an individual with disabilities or act as an approved emotional support animal. Pets are not allowed to enter any residential building.

2. Policies for Animals in Residence

1. Emotional Support Animals and Service Animals

1. Care and Management

1. Students will create a personalized plan with SDS that considers the student's needs and care for the animal.

2. Animals must be in the care of their owner at all times.
3. When the owner is not in the room, animals should be crated or in a secure enclosure.
4. Personal or property damage caused by a Service Animal or ESA is the responsibility of their owner.
5. ESAs must remain in the personal room of the assigned owner or taken directly outside of the building either on a leash or in a carrier. If the student lives in the Townhouse Community or a suite-style community, ESAs cannot be in common areas.

2. Removal of Approved Animal

1. Housing and Residential Life and West Campus House System staff work with Student Disability Services when there are concerns about the health and well-being of the animal, or harm to individuals or property have been reported.

2. Fish in Residence

1. Fish are the only pets allowed. Poisonous or flesh-eating fish are prohibited (e.g., piranhas and sharks).
2. Fish tanks are allowed if they are 10 U.S. gallons or less and all residents of the room/suite/apartment agree to have a fish tank in the space.
3. All appropriate precautions must be taken to ensure that the electrical connection to the fish tank is safe, and that other potential hazards have been properly addressed.
4. Maintenance of the fish and tank, including over break periods, must be ensured.
5. The University is not responsible for any loss of fish.

C. Bicycles and Other Personal Electronic Modes of Transportation

Proper registration and storage of bicycles and other personal electric modes of transportation is key to protecting your property and providing a safe space for everyone in the community. Due to the risk of fire, all battery-powered modes of transportation, except ADA assistance devices, are prohibited in University residences.

1. All personal electronic (battery-powered) modes of recreational transport, including but not limited to e-bikes, e-scooters, e-skateboards, and hoverboards are prohibited from being charged, stored, operated, or present in any University residential building outside of Bike Rooms.

3. Bicycles may not be stored in resident rooms, except fold-up bicycles if they do not impede egress.
4. Bicycles cannot be left in alcoves, hallways, stairwells, or common areas. They will be confiscated and turned over to Cornell University Police.
5. Any bicycles found in bicycle rooms or on bicycle racks after Commencement will be handled in the following manner:
 1. The bicycle will be removed (the lock will be cut if necessary) and taken to the Lost and Found in Barton Hall.
 2. If the bicycle is registered with the University, Cornell University Police will contact the owner via a registered letter to their permanent address.
 3. If the bicycle is not retrieved from the Lost and Found within one year, it will be entered into the Tompkins County Police Auction.

D. Cannabis and other Controlled Substances

While New York State has legalized the recreational use of cannabis for adults over the age of 21, Cornell University is subject to federal laws (per the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act and the Drug Free Workplace Act) that expressly prohibit the possession, use or distribution of cannabis on University property, including all residential communities. While the University prefers to handle a student's use of any controlled substance on an individual counseling and medical-care basis, such treatment does not offer immunity from local, state, and federal law.

1. Possession of drug paraphernalia is prohibited, whether or not it is being used for use or consumption of drugs.
2. A person may not be knowingly in the presence of illegal drugs and drugs prohibited on campus.
3. As the smell of cannabis can be bothersome to residents in the community, if a room has the direct indication that occupants may be using or actively used cannabis, University staff will document the incident as a violation of the Community Living Standards.

E. Commercial Business

F. Common Area Usage

Bike rooms, lounges, meeting rooms, lobbies, hallways, elevators, entryways, stairwells, bathrooms, and kitchens in University residences are areas held "in common" among the residents. They are not open to the public. Misuse, damage or leaving common areas unclean may result in them being closed.

1. Entering a closed space is prohibited.
2. It is the residents' responsibility to keep lounges and common areas clean and to return furniture to its proper location.
3. Vomit and other bodily fluids in common areas is the responsibility of the community. Individuals responsible should take proper measures to clean the area. Contact the staff member on call to receive a clean-up kit. Failure to do so may result in individual or common area damage charges.
4. Bathrooms that are cleaned by Building Care staff must be cleared of personal belongings, except where cubbies and racks are provided.
5. Furniture cannot be removed from any common area.
6. No one may sleep in public spaces in the building.

8. Personal property may not be left in common areas.
 1. Lost or abandoned items of value will be turned over to Cornell University Police in Barton Hall (607-255-1111) or Service Centers. After the waiting period prescribed by law, the item(s) will be entered in the Tompkins County Police Auction.

 3. Only bicycles and personal electronic modes of communication may be stored in bike rooms and all bicycles must be secured with a lock.
9. To reserve common areas, contact the RHD or West Campus House Office and follow guidelines in place for a given community. The sponsoring residents are responsible for any damage and clean up after an event.

10. Behavior in common areas may not cause a material and substantial disruption. Disruptive conduct and that which violates university policies, including Cornell Policy 6.4: Prohibited Bias, Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual and Related Misconduct, is not acceptable. Residents are encouraged to exercise good judgment and demonstrate consideration of others when using common areas.

12. Doorbell cameras, personal security cameras, and similar recording devices are prohibited.

G. Cooking and Community Kitchens

Cooking in the University residences can be a great activity to bring people together, but it can also create unsafe and unsanitary conditions for the community if not done in a manner that respects all members of the community. Kitchens may include appliances such as refrigerators, microwaves, stoves/ovens. Cornell is not responsible for damaged/stolen/disposed of items that are left in the kitchen.

1. Cooking is prohibited in hallways, bathrooms, and lounges.

In keeping with the University's policy of nondiscrimination and the commitment to inclusion, the University allows students, staff, faculty, and visitors to use the restroom or facility that corresponds to their gender identity*. In addition, the University maintains several universal restrooms across campus to address restroom facility access not necessarily related to gender identity, such as access for parents with children and other attendants/caregivers. These facilities are all-gender, accessible spaces, which may include amenities for families such as baby changing stations.

*Gender identity refers to an individual's internal sense of gender. A person's gender identity may be different from or the same as the person's sex assigned at birth.

Other Important Campus Policy Resources

The following Cornell University rules, regulations, policies, and procedures also apply in residential communities. Students who have alleged violations will be referred by Residential Life or WCHS staff to the appropriate governing offices. Students are responsible for making themselves knowledgeable about any campus rule or policy that may apply to them based on use or agreement of the individual even if not listed here specifically. For example, campus parking regulations.
