ALIBAUG

The meaning of Alibag is Garden of Ali.

Alibag or Alibaug is a coastal town in Raigad District in the Indian state of Maharashtra. It is headquarters of the Raigad district. It was developed in the 17th century by Sarkhel Kanhoji Angre the naval chief of King Shivaji's Kingdom. A naval battle was fought at Varsoli between Kanhoji Angre and Siddi of Janjira in 1706.

Alibag is a weekend picnic spot for the citizens of Mumbai. It is also a famous center for business conferences. Most of the people in the city own farms and cottages. Alibag is surrounded by sea on all 3 sides.

The best way to reach Alibaug is by boats and ferries which sail from the Gateway of India on a daily basis. The journey takes around 45 minutes to reach Mandwa. There are regular bus services from Mandwa to Alibaug which takes around 45 minutes to reach. Alibaug has a pleasant climate year-round.

The following are the main tourist attractions in and around Alibag

Alibag beach, Siddheshwar Mandir near Khandale, Alibaug Fort, Khanderi & Underi Island, Varsoli Beach, Akshi Beach, Nagaon Beach, Kashid Beach, Korlai Beach, Birla Temple ect.
