

On October 25, we enjoyed the wonderful hospitality of Pagan and Dean Mosher as they took us on a tour of Mosher Castle. Pagan's family has a most interesting history and the construction of the various castles was awe-inspiring. One of the highlights of our visit was when Dean shared with us a beautiful painting of the four girls who were killed in the church bombing. No photos were allowed because this painting has not yet been introduced publicly. It was instructional and impressive to learn of the detailed research that goes into making one of these paintings.

When we left the Castle, we had lunch in town, then enjoyed a tour and live presentation at the Museum of History. Many of us were unfamiliar with the concept of "single tax" colonies and were fascinated by it. On our way out of town, we spent some time at the Art Gallery, where at least one of our members purchased something.

Sallie Stevens