from PST members

Here are some fun (and funny) travel tips from our members that can make your adventures smoother and a bit easier. By integrating these tips into your travel routine, you'll be better prepared and enjoy your trip more:

Pack light. Take old underwear and throw them out each day

Bring extra water and snacks. You never know if you or a fellow traveler may need them.

Always stay calm.

Be flexible!

Don't overpack. And take some small bills to tip servers in cash.

I pack a multi-plug strip.

Be punctual and always stay with the group, unless otherwise directed.

Bring a map. Google/Wikipedia the places you are going to, so you know what you really want to see. This may be the only time you travel this way!

Travel off-season! Cheaper flights and accommodations, fewer crowds, shorter lines, better service, see more in less time, less competition for facilities, and less travel chaos. We went to Yellowstone National Park in April one year, and we had the park to ourselves.

If you use a CPAP, buy a travel size that doesn't require distilled water. Much easier to carry Snacks!!!! Safety pins and a small flashlight are a must!!!

Pack lightly, pack clothes that interchange with each other colors, etc.

Take it slow and enjoy the ride in the drive.

Pack an umbrella, a scarf, a raincoat, nail file, toothbrush and paste and a blanket and pillow in a carry-on bag on the bus.

Take an extra charger.

Hang each outfit on a hanger. (1 bottom & 2 tops) & loop a matching necklace over each hanger too!! then keep all hanging in home closet until closing up suitcase. Then, fold each hang-up in half in suitcase. When arriving at your destination, simply pull out & hang up in the closet. Clothes are less wrinkled, you can easily view & access outfits, easy to re-pack next day, and now you can SEE everything else in the bottom of your suitcase!!! Unpack in the time it takes to walk to the closet in the hotel room!!! Re-packing is a breeze.

Prayers for safety & well-being helps a lot for an enjoyable & smooth travel...🙏

I've learned it's not where you go or what you see. It is the ENJOYMENT and COMPANIONSHIP of the PEOPLE you are with. Be prepared for the UNEXPECTED.
