

World History: Lorna made world history by hosting and organising the first ever beauty pageant and woman empowering fundraiser on top of a mountain. The Magaliespark mountain range is also one of the oldest mountain ranges in the world. (This accomplishment was sent off to the Guinness book of world records.)

The empowerment program consisted out of weeks of confidence building workshops and training to provide young ladies (aged 14-18) in the community with the platform to learn modelling, acting, make-up, photography, marketing, social media, wardrobe and various other skills. Workshops also included emotional empowerment and wellness. These were very successful and up to today, Lorna still receives messages of gratitude from the youth and their parents.

Miss Hartheespoort 2013 was crowned on top of the Magaliesberg Mountain during a glamorous event last Friday.

The beautiful Jean Smith walked away with the coveted crown.

This year, the pageant also awarded titles to the 2013 finalists who did the most for charity in and around Hartheespoort the past year. Dama de Bruyn was chosen as Miss Ambassador. She was the finalist who made the most of her title and did the most charity work. She won R2 500 cash and various other prizes.

Mia Jacobs and Abby Christie were both awarded the Miss Charity title. They collected the most money for the Women4power NPO that aims to educate, empower, uplift and inspire women to give them hope and a future.

The event, full of glitz and glam, was held at the Hartheespoort Cableway. Among the judges were Elisabie Verheiden, an international talent scout for the New York Acting Academy, Armand du Plessis, Mr South Africa 2016 and Khokofelo Mabusela, Miss South Africa princess 2013.

"I would like to thank the Hartheespoort Cableway and all our generous sponsors for all the support that enables us to make a difference in the community," said organizer Lorna Greyling.

"Miss Hartheespoort was born out of a passion and a dream to provide a platform for young women to understand their purpose, find self love and increase their confidence. By entering this program we hope to provide each finalist with a safe platform into the modeling and acting world. This is not an ordinary pageant, but rather a woman empowerment programme that allows young women to make a difference in the community by giving back through charity work."

Beauty queens for charity

Finalists for the Miss, Mrs and Mr Africa Classic pageants gathered on top of the Magaliesberg at the Hartbeespoort cableway on Saturday to receive their sashes and to start their charity work that will benefit more than 400 000 needy people.

The main charity Pageants SA supports is the Dignity Dreams Project where re-usable and washable sanitary towels are supplied to schoolgirls in need.

The sashing event was presented in conjunction with North West Tourism, Aerial Cable Way Hartbeespoort and Tourism Friendly.

The Mrs Africa pageant was started in 2006 and has expanded and become one of the most prestigious events in Africa. With the growing success of the pageant, it was decided to include the Miss category this year for women between 18 and 25. The Mrs category caters for the 25-44 age category and Mrs Africa Classic for 45-60 year old women. Africa Pageants also collaborated with North West Tourism this year.

The final pageant week will take place from 29 October - 5 November at Buffelspoort. For more information, visit www.mrsafrica.co.za.

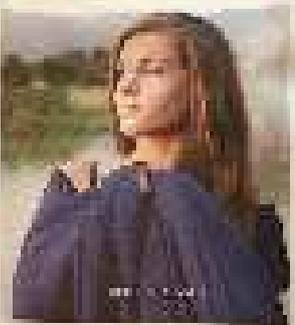

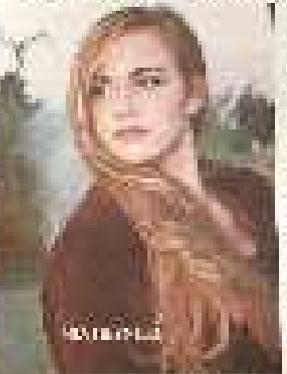

Lorna and her two models were invited as celebrity guests at the Miss South Africa pageant.

Mr and Miss Hartbeespoort crowned this weekend

Mr and Miss Hartbeespoort were crowned on Saturday night at the annual pageant held at the Hartbeespoort Dam. The winners will represent the town at the national pageant in Johannesburg.

The Miss Hartbeespoort winner is a 21-year-old student at the University of Pretoria. She will be crowned Miss Hartbeespoort for the year 2013. The Mr Hartbeespoort winner is a 25-year-old student at the University of Pretoria.

The pageant was held at the Hartbeespoort Dam and was attended by a large number of people. The winners will represent the town at the national pageant in Johannesburg.

One of Lorna's models from the Miss Hartbeespoort 2016 was used in a fashion show and as cover model. Christelize van Wyk was one of Lorna's first models who went through her empowering program. Many of Lorna's models were also signed at various professional agencies after taking part in the historical mountain top pageant. Three of her models have also started their own Businesses in the modelling and beauty industry after receiving the training at Miss/mr Harties. This was truly a life changing program that could easily be replicated in the US. Some of Lorna's models speaking on camera at a local event after their training at the youth empowering Miss/mr Hartbeespoort. The even was a major success.

Miss/Mr Hartbeespoort 2019 - video and more models speaking at local events after their training at Miss/mr Hartbeespoort. These girls were shy and have never spoken in any public events before the empowerment program.

Lorna's students also learned how to speak on camera and many of them were interviewed by major national television media.

A video of the historical mountaintop event below:

Our models had a street photography session with professional photographers at the legendary Monty Casino in South Africa. Many of them cried when seeing the pictures afterwards. They said that they never knew they were this pretty. Some of them are still sharing these pictures even to this day. For most of them it was and will probably be, the only photoshoot they will ever have. It was an honour to be able to be the part of their lives that reviled to them: "their beauty."

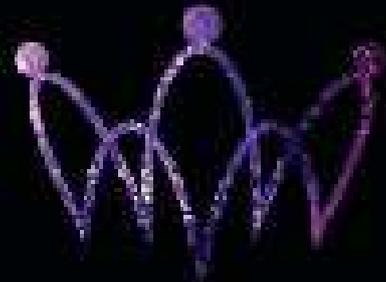

Our models were interviewed by the legendary Espresso show for their debut on primetime television. SABC 3 Morning show. They did great in their interviews even though many of them have never spoken on camera before this event. Lorna was so proud of them and blessed to be able to give them this platform. <https://youtu.be/MOYImwJhLSU>

The first spectacular mountain top event - Miss/mr Hartbeespoort. 2017

Below: Lorna's models were featured in a full page article of the Getit magazine in Brits and Rustenburg of May 18th.

Lorna Invested hours and months of training every year into the lives of young adults. Bringing hope and purpose into their lives through powerful teachings and life changing stories. Her modelling background helped her to find similarities between herself and these teenager's lives and in return bring a powerful turnaround in many troubled young teenagers' lives. The testimonies of children still until today reach Lorna and brings tears to her eyes.

The following pictures is just a few to showcase a glimpse of the extravaganza on top of the mountain that changed so many lives. Lorna also got young singers and local talent form the community to perform. Giving them a stage and publicity on major media TV houses and news papers as well as live and online audiences. For many of the performers, this was also an opportunity to launch their talent and careers as performers.
