

Brief Bio

Sean Senn Board Observer

Sean Senn is Director of Life Sciences Innovation and Intellectual Property at CommonSpirit Health, one of the largest non-profit hospital chains in the US. In his 20+ years in the life science industry, Sean has served in a wide variety of leadership and advisory roles. Sean was a Co-Founder and previous President and Chief Strategy Officer of Immix Biopharma, Inc. (Nasdaq: IMMX), a publicly traded, clinical stage drug company developing cancer therapeutics, and which was named after another company started by Sean's late father some years ago. He has also been an investor, including as a member of the Pasadena Angels. Previously, Sean was a Partner and Chair of the patent practice at the law firm Archer Norris, as well as practiced as an intellectual property lawyer at the firms Nixon Peabody, and Davis Wright Tremaine. Sean holds an MBA from UCLA Anderson, and a JD from University of San Diego School of Law. He was also a PhD candidate in biochemistry from Rutgers University, and holds an MSc in molecular biology from Montclair State University, and a BS in Biology from UC San Diego.