

INTERIM CEO SERVICES

As they say: “many are indispensable but no one is irreplaceable”. Even the most well-organized and prepared organizations occasionally need interim help. Think about it...do you really want to leave your organization for even a week without mature, knowledgeable and experienced leadership? As a former CEO with crisis intervention and turnaround experience, I can be your stabilizing governor until your contingency plan is realized. As needed, I can also help you to transition to new technical or leadership staff through recruiting/interviewing, transition planning, identification of organization or regulatory “time bombs”.