

Return Policy

Returns and refunds will be carried out in accordance with Australian Consumer Law. We may require your personal information and produce photo identification for verification for the purposes of detecting and preventing fraud. This process does not affect your statutory rights.