Reindeer hunting in Iceland is a unique and exclusive experience. Every year 20-30 foreign hunters enjoy the privilege of hunting these wild majestic animals in this rugged country. The Icelandic Reindeer was originally brought to Iceland from Norway around 1780. Since then, they have adapted to the much harsher winters. Hunting is based on a draw. Tags for the 2013 hunting season will be around $1,050. We can apply for tags until February 10th 2013. We need a copy of the client's passport, US hunting license and full address to be able to apply. We do not ask for a deposit until the client has drawn a tag. If no tag is drawn, there is at no cost to the client. We will know the result of the draw before end of February. We can only confirm hunting dates after the draw. At that time we need a 50% deposit to confirm and the remaining 50% at least 60 days prior to your scheduled hunt.

- 1 hunter 5 days, 3 days hunting $7,450

HUNT PTARMIGAN (ROCK) IN ICELAND

(Lagopus mutus)

| Hunting Area | Season | Duration | Shooting Distance | Weather | Altitude of Hunt |
|--------------------------|---|--------------------------|-------------------|--|------------------|
| Egilsstadir (east coast) | Late October – Mid November Hunt only Fri – Sunday | 5 day trip 3 day hunt | 20 to 50 yards | 14°F - 40°F. Early morning. Click for Weather | 6' to 1500' |

Ptarmigan hunting is by far the most popular wing shooting sport in Iceland and game is plentiful. Only wild birds are hunted. The day's result for a Ptarmigan hunter can be anywhere between 5 – 30 birds per day. This certainly depends on the shooting ability of the hunter, but weather will also influence the result. Of course, the birds cannot be controlled nor can the elements. Two to four hunters will accompany each guide in a comfortable 4WD vehicle.

Price and payments:

3 Day Hunt - Price per hunter

2 hunters - $3,800

3 hunters - $3,500

4 hunters - $2,900

Non hunter - $1,100

A 50% deposit is needed to confirm booking. The remainder is due 60 days prior to arrival. Deposit is non-refundable if a trip is cancelled, unless a replacement hunter can be found. We need a copy of your passport, local hunting license and firearms license (if issued in your country) and full address 5 weeks prior to your scheduled arrival. We need these documents in good time in order to obtain a firearms license and a hunting license for you in Iceland.

Food & Accommodations: Accommodations during the hunt are in a new and comfortable lodge with four bedrooms. There are two rooms and a toilet upstairs and two rooms, bathroom, kitchen and lounge downstairs. Six hunters can be accommodated, but the ideal group is four. We serve breakfast, boxed lunch and dinner during the hunt. All drinks except alcoholic are included. Personal wishes of the hunters will be considered in regards to cuisine. When possible, wild game will be cooked.

Itinerary:

Day 0: Departure from USA: Seattle (7,5 hours), Baltimore (6 hours), Boston (4 hours), or Minneapolis (6 hours). Icelandair is the only major airline serving Iceland.

Day 1: Arrival at Keflavik International Airport 06:30 the next morning where you will be met by the outfitter. The outfitter will clear your firearms through customs (if you want to bring your own) and then transfer you to Reykjavik domestic airport. Then a flight to the East, an its big glaciers, mountains and rivers. After a one hour flight you will land at Egilsstadir, a small town on the East coast of Iceland. There your guide will be waiting for you with a comfortable 4WD vehicle. The drive to the lodge takes 10 minutes. You may then rest in the afternoon before dinner in the evening.

Day 2 - 4: You will wake up before sunrise for a hearty breakfast. During the early morning light you will head for the hunting area (10-30 minutes drive). The area where you will hunt will depend on the amount of snow. Sometimes you will be hunting in an area with brush cover, or if snow is scarce, you will head up into the mountains where the ground is more barren.

Day 5: After breakfast, you will be driven 10 minutes to the domestic airport of Egilstadir. After a one hour flight to Reykjavik, You will transfer to Keflavik International Airport and you will depart in the afternoon at approximately 17:00.
