This is a hunt that is based on the idea of sustainable development through preservation of an area of 200,000 acres of jungle. By finding an economic value for wildlife and its environment, resource conservation is of paramount importance, the outfitter works alongside the people from the region. He acknowledges the need for the sustainable development of their natural resources. He offers unique hunting expeditions where all the details involving logistics, lodging, meals, guiding, transportation, guns, and licenses are taken care of. The unique senses and mysterious sounds of the jungle are yours. You will have a great experience and enjoy your stay relishing the beauty. Camp includes A.C. generators, over-the-river deck, dining room, four chalets, 1x1 guides, two hunters per vehicle, and general assistance.

However, THIS IS A JUNGLE HUNT! It can be very difficult and demanding. You will be in the Jungle! It can get hot, humid, wet and have numerous insects. Do not expect carpet or central air conditioning. Expect a Jungle!! You are going to get tired, wet, and hungry because you have most likely never hunted in the Jungle! Get ready to enjoy an experience with many different, exciting and interesting things that you will remember always!

Note: As of the 2010 season there has been a government change where the animals must be shipped after the proper paperwork has been completed which will be after the end of the season. It is then shipped to you by UPS

IMPORTING YOUR TROPHIES TO THE USA: In September 2009, the US Fish and Wildlife Service updated Title 50 of the Code of Federal Regulations Subsection 23. This changed the way CITES listed animals are to be handled when imported into the United States. Prior to this time a “Blanket Certificate of Origin” was sufficient for Appendix III listed species ---Ocellated turkey, Great Curasaw, Crested Guan, Chachalaca, Aguti, Paca, Coati and Forest Cougar. The NEW regulations require a CITES Certificate of Origin. This certificate must contain more information including the hunter’s name, date of validity, name of the CITES management authority in the country of origin, the outfitter’s name and hunting tag number. A blanket certificate of origin does not contain all the necessary information. The cost for this process starts from $500 and up, depending on the amount of species taken. Returning without proper documentation is a violation of the Lacey Act and the trophies are subject to seizure by US Fish and Wildlife.

There is also an issue with the USDA requirement that all unfinished trophies imported into the U.S. must be consigned to a licensed and USDA approved taxidermist. Trophies hand-carried into the US. Are technically consigned to the passenger himself and could be seized.

Animals will remain with the outfitter and will be sent to a taxidermist who is required to have a certificate issued by the US Fish and Wildlife and this typically takes 2-3 months. The cost for this generally ranges from $400 to $1,000 depending on the number of animals. Hides can be sent to the hunter once they are completely dried and treated and the respective fumigation certificate has been issued stating the type of salt and chemicals used. This is a requirement of the US Department of Agriculture.

TIPPING SUGGESTIONS: Tips are a personal matter; however, we are often asked for our advice. A guideline is:

Guide	$250-$350 per hunter
Scout	$150-$250 per group
Chef	$250-$350 per group
Helper/Waiter	$250-$350 per group

I strongly recommend that you book early and book early hunting dates.

THIS IS A DIFFICULT HUNT.

DAILY ITINERARY: Hunting starts very early in the morning with a light meal consisting of cereal, fruit juice, wafers and coffee. You will leave the camp by 5:00 or 6:00 AM, depending on the place to be hunted. From 12:00 to 4:00 PM, you will rest and relax in the cool waters of the river or take a nap and a snack is available. The hunt starts again at 4:00 PM and you will not return to the camp until around 8:00 PM to enjoy a full dinner with game food, meat or other typical dishes.

SUGGESTED EQUIPMENT: 2 cotton pants (brown or dark green), 3 long sleeve cotton shirts (brown or dark green), short pants, lightweight boots, top siders or tennis shoes, lightweight jacket, swimsuit, towel, wet shoes, hat or cap, flashlight, repellent, camera, personal articles.
