FREE-RANGE HUNT IN WESTERN MOZAMBIQUE

This concession covers 1,000,000 acres of wild free-roaming land that borders Lake Cahorra Bassa for 60 miles. The area is based in Tete province, Mozambique. The habitat consists mostly of mountains with thick brush, cut through by many dry riverbeds. Mozambique is a place for the big game hunter and not for the faint hearted.

This is a true unspoiled wilderness, boasting unbelievable sunsets over the lake. Nehenda is well known in the hunting community for the biggest crocodiles as well as extremely large leopards. The average size of crocodile is 14 feet and some even stretch the tape to 17 ½ feet. Nehenda carries a high population of leopards and huge males are taken every season. The concession is also home to other species including elephant, lion, hippo, hyena, kudu, Chobe bush buck, Sharpe's grysbok, duiker, warthog, bush pig, klipspringer, civet cat, genet cat, caracal, honey badgers, baboons and monkeys. Nehenda also offers some of Africa's most fearsome predators, world-class Tiger fishing. Best hunting is from May to mid-October, after that the heat can be severe. If you wish to do a safari in combination with tiger fishing, the best month will be September and October. If you want to hunt this area, your port of entry in Mozambique will be Tete Airport where the outfitter will meet you.

Buffalo hunting in free roaming, unfenced Africa is not for the faint of heart. We hunt buffalo on their terms, making it a challenging but hugely rewarding experience.

Cape Buffalo can be extremely dangerous and is said to have killed more big game hunters than any other animal in Africa. Our experienced PH's will be sure to keep you out of harm's way and enjoying every second of this exhilarating hunt.

The camp is based on the northern banks of Cahora Bassa Lake in the Tete province of Mozambique. The area covers 700 000 acres of wild, free roaming land that borders the water's edge for 60 miles.
