FUN THINGS FOR KIDS

One of the many things military families think about when anticipating a new move is "what fun things will there be to do with the kids?" The realization hits that it's almost time to explore a new a place "again". Next month y'all can look forward to a new piece detailing fun activities that follow us from one duty station to the next and finding new fun things to make lasting memories

May Vol.2

Pregnancy is a journey all by itself and trying to navigate what your insurance covers is a beast all on its own. I feel like I found out about a new benefit every time I found myself pregnant. So I thought I would put together a little something to help y'all take full advantage of your benefits.
