Summer camps at the Colonial Pennsylvania Plantation offer an exciting way for children to spend a portion of their summer. Through hands-on activities like open hearth cooking, farming, and historic crafts, your child will learn about history and colonial life through a camp that is interactive, educational, and most of all, FUN! Perfect for your young history buff or children looking for a one-of-a-kind experience.

The campers will engage in a variety of activities including group activities and take-home crafts all related to the theme of each week. Some camps may include a group project that benefits the site. Many activities are divided by age group, allowing campers to learn with their peers.

Our camp staff are the same educators that work throughout the school year offering exceptional educational programs to schools. They are all trained professionals with backgrounds in history and education. In order to provide the most hands-on learning experiences possible, the number of campers in each session is limited, so register early!

Ages 7–13

18th Century STEM

This camp looks at the science behind 18th century technologies. In the modern world we have a deeper understanding of what makes things work the way they do through physics, biology and chemistry. Campers will do a variety of activities that look at how those disciplines help us understand cooking, farming, and crafts.

Farm Intensive

A farm experience for older campers, this camp emphasizes more hands-on time with our steers, horses and sheep, and more advanced crafts related to the animals and plants found on the farm.

June 20–24, 2022

Native American Life Intensive

In this camp campers will learn skills used in the daily life of Native Americans, particularly the Lenape, who lived in our area. This will include things like using stone tools, making things from materials in the environment, and decorative crafts. Campers will also hear traditional stories, which were an important part of Lenape culture.
