OPENING NIGHT

Mistura

A sweeping story of love, betrayal, and cuisine, this delicious drama starring Bárbara Mori (Rubí, Women in Blue) celebrates the remarkable gastronomy and people of Peru.

In 1960s Lima, the glamorous life of a privileged woman Norma (Mori) unravels when her husband leaves her for another woman, ostracising her from elite society. Facing the prospect of financial ruin, Norma decides to open an exclusive French restaurant in her home, leading her to warmly embrace the so often overlooked working people around her.

With the help of these newfound allies, Norma soon embarks on a transformative journey with a daring new culinary venture. Challenging social expectations of the time and immersing herself in Peru's cultural and culinary heritage, her experiences become a catalyst to reevaluate her life.

A deeply personal project from director Ricardo de Montreuil and a tribute to the diversity of Peru's culture and cuisine, Mistura is an intimate drama and gastronomic odyssey that invites audiences to embrace the richness of life's flavours and experiences.

LOS DOMINGOS

This quietly spellbinding drama from rising Spanish writer/director Alauda Ruiz de Azúa deftly captures the rupture within a family after a young woman defies expectations with her chosen vocation, shocking those closest to her.

Bilbao. Every Sunday when she is home from boarding school, brilliant and deeply religious 17-year-old Ainiara (compelling newcomer Blanca Soroa) and her extended family gather for lunch at the home of her paternal grandmother (Mabel Rivera). One day, she shocks everyone by revealing that, rather than pursue university, she is considering following her faith to become a cloistered nun. Her bombshell ripples through the family, particularly affecting her widowed restaurateur father (Miguel Garcés), and her aunt Maite (Patricia López Arnaiz), an intelligent and supposedly tolerant woman who has been very active in raising her, challenging their worldviews and igniting long-buried tensions. A major triumph at the Spanish box office in late 2025 and featuring beautifully measured performances, Ruiz de Azúa's elegant film Sundays confirms her as a filmmaker of formidable talent.

The Hunt

LA CAZA

Celebrating its 60th anniversary, the festival closes with acclaimed director Carlos Saura's The Hunt presented in a new restoration.

Considered a landmark classic in Spanish cinema and a representative film of Nuevo cine español, The Hunt delivered Saura his first international success, being awarded Silver Bear for Best Director at the 1966 Berlin International Film Festival. Shot in arresting black and white, The Hunt is a thrilling psychological drama that delivers a skillful allegory of the wounds of the Spanish Civil War and subsequent Franco dictatorship.

After eight years apart, old friends and veteran Falangists José (Ismael Merlo), Paco (Alfredo Mayo), and Luis (José María Prada), reunite for a day of hunting in the arid countryside on an old Civil War battlefield, with Paco's brother-in-law, Enrique (Emilio Gutiérrez Caba) enthusiastically tagging along. Set over the course of a single scorching summer day, they spend their time drinking, reminiscing and hunting rabbits. However, as the day wears on, old tensions and resentments become more apparent, and violence soon bubbles to the surface.

See page 34 for modern reinterpretation, Ladies' Hunting Party.

The Captive

EL CAUTIVO

An ambitious and thrilling historical adventure drama from award-winning director Alejandro Amenábar (While at War, The Sea Inside), starring Julio Peña (Through My Window) and Alessandro Borghi (The Eight Mountains), The Captive is an enthralling tale about the power of stories that cleverly combines truth, history and fiction.

1575, Algiers.

Miguel de Cervantes (Peña), a wounded 28-year-old Spanish Navy soldier and the future author of Don Quixote, is held prisoner by Ottoman corsairs. Faced with a ticking clock, a cruel death awaits him should his fellow countrymen fail to pay his ransom soon. But within the confines of his cell, Cervantes discovers a surprising refuge in the art of storytelling.

Crafted from resilience and hope, his stories enthrall his fellow captives and spark the attention of Hasan (Borghi), the enigmatic and feared Bey of Algiers. With a secret affinity ignited between captor and captive, suspicions begin to rise amidst growing tensions in the city. But, driven by an unwavering sense of optimism, Cervantes devises a daring plan for freedom.

Isabel

A sommelier in São Paulo's contemporary fine dining scene, Isabel (Marina Person, who also co-wrote the script) is ready to break free from her domineering chef boss and start something of her own: a wine bar where she can decide what is on the wine list. Courting investors, she takes the first steps towards making her project a reality, even as the backing she needs remains frustratingly out of reach.

Walking the line between calculated risk and reckless abandon, Isabel's passion and idealism collide with the pragmatic realities of running an independent business. In a world where success can turn sour as quickly as an uncorked bottle left out too long, Isabel must decide between playing it safe or taking a bold chance to uncork her destiny on her own terms.

Directed and co-written by Gabe Klinger, from the producers of I'm Still Here, and featuring Ciao Horowicz (I'm Still Here) and John Ortiz (American Fiction), Isabel is an energetic drama about following your dreams, imbued with a love of wine.

UN CABO SUELTO

Directed by Daniel Hendler, A Loose End is a black comedy thriller and frontier story about a policeman in a sticky situation who experiences love, adventure and danger on the border of Argentina and Uruguay.

SIEMPRE ES INVIERNO

From renowned writer-director David Trueba (Forgotten We'll Be) comes Always Winter, based on his own novel Blitz, an intimate and delicate story laced with sharp wit about a deeply flawed man who, despite his current mid-life crisis, shares moments of unexpected tenderness and joy with an older woman.

Miguel (David Verdaguer, El 47, Jokes & Cigarettes) is a landscape architect who travels to Liege, Belgium to take part in a conference. When his girlfriend abruptly dumps him, Miguel decides to stay on for a few days in Belgium. There he meets Olga (Isabelle Renault), a volunteer at the conference who prompts him to rethink his personal and professional life, transforming the way he sees the world and his future.

Another League

PIONERAS: SOLO QUERÍAN JUGAR

A feel-good origins story inspired by true events, Another League tells the story of a group of pioneering girls and an ambitious promoter who changed the history of women's football in Spain.

In early 1970s Spain, when Francoist ideologies are still deeply rooted in society, a group of young girls decide to play football in a country that does not see a place for them in the sport.

Among them is 16-year-old Nati, who has an innate talent and a love for the beautiful game. She is prepared to play behind her disapproving mother's back, and to withstand people laughing at and insulting her and her teammates.

The women have no official support, no team anthem, and no permission, but their passion for the game is bigger than any rulebook. Along the way, they find an unexpected ally in a visionary sports promoter, and together, against the odds, they will challenge the status quo.

Fast forward to today, Spain are the reigning world champions after winning the FIFA Women's World Cup in 2023.

Balandrau, Where the Fierce Wind Blew

BALANDRAU, VENT SALVATGE

Inspired by true events that took place in the Catalan Pyrenees and based on the book 'Viento salvaje' by Jordi Cruz, Balandrau, Where the Fierce Wind Blew is a riveting dramatic thriller about a real-life tragedy that impacted the whole country.

On 30 December 2000, on a clear, sunny day, a group of friends begin their ascent of Balandrau, a mountain of barely 2,500 metres in the Catalan Pyrenees.

The mountaineers enjoy the sunny skies accompanying them until suddenly, in a matter of minutes, everything takes a dramatic turn for the worse. An unforeseen blizzard unleashes the worst storm in the history of the Pyrenees, southern Europe's majestic mountain range. As visibility vanishes, the wind and snow whip around them in an icy, disorienting storm, and soon survival becomes a desperate fight against the elements.

The directorial feature debut of Fernando Trullols, featuring breathtaking cinematography and a screenplay by Danielle Schleif (Mediterraneo: The Law of the Sea), this survival tale and story of human resilience highlights the contrasting beauty and danger of the mountains.

Band Together

RONDALLAS

Two years after the tragic sinking of a fishing boat that devastated their small community, a coastal village in Galicia decides to revive their traditional music ensemble, the rondalla. Deciding that it is time to rekindle hope and move beyond mourning, members young and old reunite to bring the traditional group back to life, aiming to compete in an annual local contest against neighbouring villages.

As the community slowly rediscovers the joy and enthusiasm they had lost, unexpected revelations about the cause of the shipwreck threaten to disrupt their fragile harmony. With the rondalla in jeopardy, 18-year-old Andrea is chosen to step up and lead the band, following in the footsteps of her late father. Soon she reignites a long-lost spark in the village by blending traditional instruments with contemporary hits.

Written and directed by Daniel Sánchez Arévalo, Band Together is a heartfelt gem about the power of music and community that features a stellar ensemble cast led by triple Goya-winner Javier Gutiérrez and a standout performance by newcomer Judith Fernández.

Breaking Walls

LOS AITAS

A tender dramedy from director/ co-writer Borja Cobeaga (Spanish Affair), Breaking Walls is a comical and heartwarming road movie starring Juan Diego Botto (The Room Next Door), Quim Gutiérrez, and Ramón Barea (Lullaby).

1989, on the outskirts of Bilbao. A children's rhythmic gymnastics team has the chance to compete in a tournament in Berlin, and with the girls' mothers unable to take time off work, it falls on their fathers to reluctantly chaperone them on the trip. However, there is one problem: these dads have little experience or enthusiasm for the sport, let alone much interest in their daughters.

The families have all been hit hard by the loss of industrial factory jobs and must re-think their roles as parents, made all the more apparent as they head to Berlin amidst a time of historic change. During this long and emotional bus journey from Bilbao to Berlin, the fathers question their roles as parents and joyously rediscover the bond they share with their daughters.

Homo Sapiens?

HOMO ARGENTUM

A smash box office hit in Argentina, Homo Sapiens? is a sharp and entertaining satire anthology about identity, human behaviour and modern life, from Mariano Cohn and Gastón Duprat (Official Competition).

Inspired by Italian comedies from the 1960s and '70s, Homo Sapiens? presents a collection of satirical stories, featuring remarkable performances by Guillermo Francella (My Masterpiece, The Heist of the Century).

Transforming himself like an Argentine social chameleon, Francella embodies everyday people, portraying different slices of human behaviour, introducing characters who are ambiguous, endearing, or miserable, yet recognisable. From middle-class double standards to soccer obsession, excessive political correctness to the art of playing the fool, this black comedy entertains but passes no moral judgements.

Underlying each story is a perspective full of humour and irony, with each tale reflecting the quirks of modern daily life. Inviting us to reflect on identity, idiosyncrasy, customs, and human behaviour, this fierce and hilarious satire cements Cohn and Duprat as masters of dark humour.

Ladies' Hunting Party

DÍA DE CAZA

Inspired by Carlos Saura's award-winning classic The Hunt (1966), this new film from Pedro Aguilera honours the legacy of the original and delivers a fiercely modern vision exploring cycles of betrayal, corruption, and abuse of power in Spanish society.

Starring three legendary figures of Spanish cinema, the award-winning actresses Blanca Portillo (Maixabel, Volver), Carmen Machi (Spanish Affair, Aida) and Rossy de Palma (Broken Embraces, Kika) deliver captivating tour de force performances.

Rosa, Blanca, and Carmen, three middle-aged friends, reunite after a long time without seeing each other to go hunting rabbits at Blanca's country house and reserve near Madrid, along with Rosa's taciturn teenage niece, Diana.

As the hot day unfolds, amidst laughter and sharing secrets, issues in their lives come to the surface: divorce, children, money problems, infidelities, alcohol, and professional ambitions. The stifling heat and memories of the past result in old tensions rising and their reunion slowly simmers, until the women finally face each other.

Narciso

Inspired by notorious real-life events, this seductive new noir from award-winning writer/director Marcelo Martinessi (The Heiresses) unravels the mysterious death of a charismatic radio host in late-1950s Paraguay — as the rebellious pulse of rock ‘n’ roll crackling over the airwaves sparks fear, scandal and moral panic.

Asunción, 1959. Under dictator Alfredo Stroessner’s suffocating military regime, magnetic DJ Narciso Arévalos’ (Diro Romero) popularity has risen in tandem with the arrival of imported American music. Narciso, having returned from Buenos Aires energised by the likes of Chuck Berry and Buddy Holly, has convinced the radio station’s owner to play it instead of traditional Paraguayan folk standards. Narciso’s show ignites a generation craving freedom, yet his defiant allure also earns powerful, dangerous attention.

Visually stunning and immersive, Martinessi’s atmospheric thriller probes how desire, fear, and shared beliefs work together to sustain dictatorships, and reminds us that few forces challenge conformity more powerfully than art, especially the electrifying sound of rock ‘n’ roll.

Nothing Between Us

NADA ENTRE LOS DOS

Two of Latin America's most iconic stars, Mexico's Gael García Bernal (Y tu mamá también, The Motorcycle Diaries) and Uruguay's Natalia Oreiro (Super Crazy), come together for the first time in this intimate and charming love story.

Guillermo (García Bernal) and Mechi (Oreiro) are two executives in different divisions of the same large company. Usually, they are separated by over 6,000 kilometres, with Guillermo living in Mexico City and Mechi in Buenos Aires.

Unexpectedly connecting during a regional departmental conference, the attraction between them proves immediate and tempting. Although they are both married, the flirtation sees them face their own fantasies and desires, changing their perceptions of their lives and dreams in more ways than they thought possible.

Set against the backdrop of a corporate crisis, Nothing Between Us explores desire, choice, and the fragile balance between personal freedom and social expectations. Blending romance with sharp social observation, this captivating drama offers a warm, relatable, and contemporary portrait of love.

Romería

This eagerly anticipated drama from writer/director Carla Simón (Summer 1993, Alcarràs) – one of the most acclaimed filmmakers in contemporary Spanish cinema – follows an orphaned teenage girl as she meets her paternal family and reckons with her late parents' complex and secret history.

2004. Vigo, Spain's Atlantic coast. 18-year-old Marina (Llúcia Garcia) has arrived to meet her grandparents for the first time, seeking their signature on some documents that she needs for a scholarship application. Raised by her mother's sister, Marina is unfamiliar with the numerous aunts, uncles, and cousins on the other side of her family. She is immediately confronted with a past shaped by absence and long-buried emotions, hindering her ambition to reconstruct a coherent account of her father, her parents' love story, and her place within it.

Featuring a luminous central performance from García and stunning imagery of Galicia's rugged coast, Romería – meaning “pilgrimage” – intimately and sensually demonstrates how storytelling can prove a compelling mode of working through one's elusive past and uncovering universal truths.

My Amazing Grandma

ABUELA TREMENDA

Toñi (played by a magnificent Elena Irueta, Patria, A Moroccan Affair) is an eccentric and cheeky grandmother with incredible people skills. Her daughter Daniela (Toni Acosta, One Hell of a Holiday) is the complete opposite, perpetually stressed by her job and by being a single mother to her nine-year-old daughter, Alexia. Naturally, Alexia adores her whirlwind, free-spirited grandmother. So, when Daniela takes Alexia to a rural retreat, Toñi does not hesitate to turn up with her caravan. Eager to spend time with her granddaughter and liven up the show, Toñi's presence sets off a tsunami of hilarious disasters.

A funny and heartwarming box office hit comedy about three generations of women and the power of love to overcome differences, My Amazing Grandma is directed by Ana Vázquez in her feature debut, with a screenplay by Roberto Jiménez.
