This wasn't what I had in mind when I went looking for a source of green energy.

Now it's your turn to come up with a good caption.

What's in a Name?

This actress, born Winona Laura Horowitz, started with quirky roles in the '90s and has moved on to Stranger Things.

ANSWER: Winona Ryder

Garden Party

Some scientists call it the "wood-wide web," the notion that trees communicate with each other underground through a network of fungal filaments. It is postulated that fungi allow for the transfer of nutrients, water, and hormones between trees. In this manner, trees are not competing with each other, but cooperating for survival. Other scientists say it's time for a reality check and argue that research does not support this theory. Fungal networks may just be helping themselves without any benefit to surrounding trees.
