Aim High To Serve!

Lion Glenn Kaufmann District Governor

Hi Lions. Lion Lisa and I had the chance to hang out with our nieces and nephews over the summer. Since we do not have any children of our own, we try to share stories/jokes/myths of our ancestors with them. The last month three more went off to college and we have started to pass along some of the hard-earned lessons we learned along the way. Hoping we leave a small imprint with them, maybe down the road they will remember our conversations and get a little chuckle. Everyone wants the next generation to succeed, after all they might be picking out our nursing home!

It's the same in our clubs. Who will carry your club's banner in 2050? Not to be overly dramatic, but if we aren't looking for the next generation of Lions to come in behind us, who will?

Did you know recruiting young Lions can:

- Ensure your club will exist in 40 years
- Increase hands to do more service
- Gain fresh ideas
- Mirror current times
- Bring in new energy and diverse skills
- Promote membership that reflects the community

I often hear fellow Lions stress to me we should be concentrating on keeping the Lions we have in place and worry less about Millennials. My answer is, why does it have to be one or the other? Our clubs have the capacity to work to keep our current Lions engaged AND look to the future with new, younger members. Did you know folks under 40 are just as likely to volunteer as their more "mature" counterparts?

While it does happen, very rare is the day where a potential Lion reaches out to us. We have to go looking for great Lions. LCI suggests trying the following approaches to recruiting younger members:

- Ask current members to recruit within their family. Children and grandchildren are a great source for membership.
- Visit local colleges and universities. Students are a good resource for your club and many educational institutions require volunteer hours for graduation.
- Attend a local Leo club and find out if Alpha Leo's graduating high school or Omega Leo's turning 30 are interested in becoming a Lion.
- Call or email area businesses and ask if you can post fliers or set up a booth in their lunchroom for a day.
- Partner with a youth group or secondary school to implement a joint service project. Many participants will soon reach the age of legal majority. This will give your club contact with future prospective members.
- Encourage the young adults you are recruiting to invite their spouse, friends and family members to attend a meeting. Young adults enjoy doing activities in a group and will feel more comfortable if they bring others along with them.

Did You Know?

*Lion Kathleen Bleckeberg
1st Vice District Governor*

OCTOBER! My favorite month of the whole year! Celebrations abound!!

Personally October 1st, John and I will celebrate our 17th Wedding Anniversary, along with one sister and both of my sisters have October birthdays, along with John's and one of my nieces.

My Lions family is celebrating huge anniversaries. Faribault, Northfield celebrating 100 years and Waconia celebrating 76 years. I will be a Lion for 11 years.

My question to myself is what have the above Lions clubs done right to be going for so long? What I have come up with is their dedication to "We Serve". They have served more than their communities, they have served their district, nation and globally. They have stepped outside the box on several occasions to see where the need was. This takes leadership and a willingness to take a leap of faith, to just see if it works and it does.

I feel it starts baby steps and it becomes a little bigger and a bit more. We must start somewhere, and we must have the courage to take that first baby step, it's not always going to go well, but learn from those miss steps, take a little different direction, and see where it takes you. Nothing we do is life threatening; we are allowed to be human and screw up.

We also have a wealth of support in our Clubs, District, and Multiple District. We have past and present, Zone chairs, Region Chairs, District Governors, International Directors that are more than willing to listen and help were ever we can. We will, but we only know what we know. You have to ask.

It all starts in your club with your members, listen to all ideas, brainstorm, encourage new members to participate in the conversation find out their passion and the only way to do that is ask!!

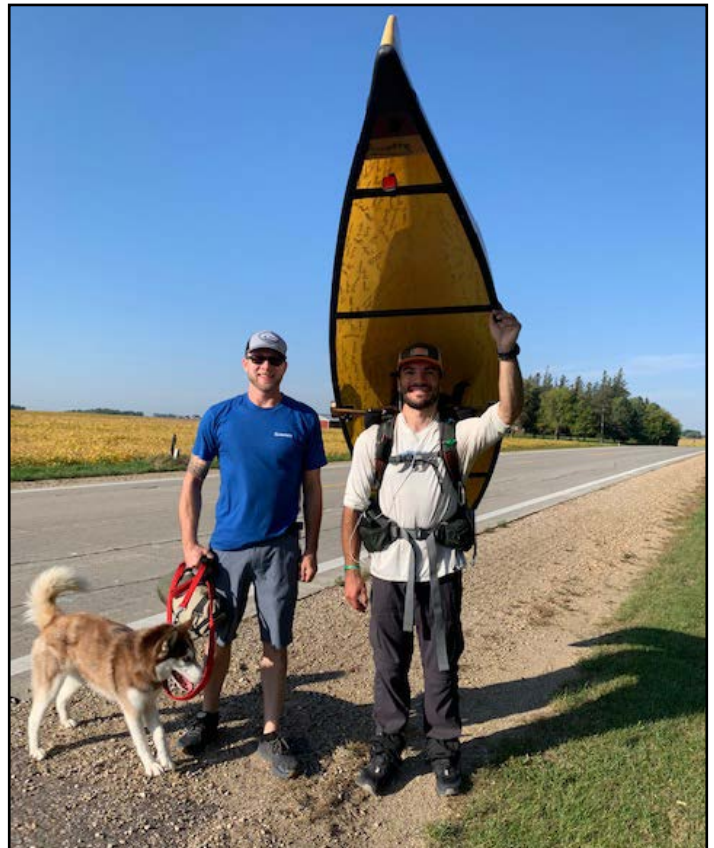

I was asked the other day. What is my WHY? What made me take the step to become a LION 11 years ago. The most precious gift that I can give is my time. I want to give what time I have to LIONS. To get out of myself and give to others and to see what bears fruit. I have been seeing blooms starting to open a little at a time.

I want to ask you, what is your LIONS Why? Were do you want that Why to take you?

Looking forward to seeing all of you at Zone meetings in the next couple of months. Please come to the Zone meeting and bring the whole club. Zone meeting are a great way to get members outside of their clubs to see and hear what other clubs are doing and to steal ideas for your own. And to see what your cabinet and District Governor team is up to.

Have a Happy Halloween

P.S. The attached photo is of Even Hansen from Rochester he is portaging across the state to raise money and awareness for suicide prevention. On Sunday Morning Sept 19th I was coming home from church and he and a man from Alden were walking right by my place. So, I just had to ask if they needed any water, help or anything and I was able to take this picture. Mental health is still not talked about enough. Losing a loved one is beyond painful, to lose a loved one from suicide leaves you with a tremendous amount of guilt and questions. Just wanted to share.

Hello Lions...

*Lion Christy Trutnau
2nd Vice District Governor*

October starts my fourth month as your 2nd Vice District Governor and what an exciting journey it has been! I have attended some President and Secretary Zone meetings already and its great hearing how clubs still managed to serve even during the pandemic. I am looking forward to attending the reminder President and Secretary meetings and the fall zone meetings. I look forward to see you there.

I was just recently at the USA/Canada Forum in Des Moines, IA. Where I received my master's degree from Lions University. I am pictured here with Lion's International President Douglas Alexander! It was truly an honor and privilege to meet him.

Lions University you say, what is that? The Lions University Program was established in 2014 to support the USA/Canada Lions Leadership Forum objective of providing year-round leadership development opportunities to our Lions Club Members. There are three educational program levels you can achieve: bachelors, masters, and doctoral degrees. Lions must complete 10 required classes and at least 5 elective classes to complete each specific leadership experience. You can take these classes online on Lions University or sometimes they offer live sessions. Once you have completed the education levels if you would like to receive a certification of completion (which is optional) you would attend a USA/Canada Leadership Forum. They have a graduation ceremony in honor of those participated and completed the programs. The Lions University Program is a great resource for new and experienced Lions. You do not have to attend a USA/Canada Forum to take the classes, you can take the classes in any order and anytime you would like. If you want to know more about The Lions University Program visit their website: <https://lionsuniversity.org>

I would encourage any Lion wanting to learn more about leadership development to check it out. It can also help you not only in Lions but also in your personal career development as well.

As a reminder the Minnesota Lions Vision Foundation is hosting their Eyeball Gala on Friday October 29th at 7pm at the Earle Brown Center, tickets are $30 per person or $50.00 per couple. Please see me or Lion Wendy Goldsmith if you need tickets. Also, as a reminder Thanksgiving for Vision is on Saturday October 30th.

If any club needs help entering their club officers, members or logging your club's attendance into LCI please me know, I would be happy to help!

- Consider avoiding your vest when recruiting. Wearing a Lions polo shirt or a plain casual shirt, khaki pants, dress shoes and a Lions pin is most often the best way to dress.

Follow-up is essential whether a young adult initially accepts or declines an invitation to join Lions. Young adults may be hesitant at first, especially if they are not familiar with LCI and don't know anyone in your club. Give them time. Even if a young adult is interested, they are not likely to accept your invitation before they do research or discuss joining with friends and family.

Imagine it's the year 2061. What does your club look like? Is it even still around?

FANTASTIC NEWS – 1VP Brian Sheehan will be inducted as Lions International President at the International Convention in Montreal in June of 2022.

It is with great pride that a Lion from our own Multiple MD5M and a Minnesota Lion from Bird Island, MN has risen to the call to become the International President for 2022-2023. This journey has been exciting and challenging for both Lion Brian and Lion Lori and has required extreme dedication and perseverance and expense on their part due to the pandemic pushing Lion Brian's position as IP back a whole year. However, wheels are now in fast motion for this to happen next year and as Lions, we should be thrilled to have Lions Brian and Lori leading the world's largest service organization.

Back in 2017 we asked if the clubs in 5M2 would support the Sheehan Campaign by making a onetime $100 donation. Over half of the clubs in 5M2 stepped up to the challenge and 1VP Brian was extremely appreciative for this support. However, due to the extra time and expense the time delay has caused the campaign, 1VP Brian's campaign fund needs help. Lion Brian is very cost conscious, but also wants to be able to do great things for Lions in his year as International President. The 5M2 Cabinet voted to donate $5000 from the District Treasury and would like to see that matched by the Lions in 5M2. Lions Brian and Lori would be beyond grateful if your club would donate $100 or any amount to the Lion Brian Campaign Fund.

If your club does not have the means to make a monetary donation, there is also an opportunity to donate a raffle basket of any kind for the raffle room at the Multiple Convention in Mankato in April of 2022.

If your club would like to show your support for 1VP Brian and Lion Lori by making a donation to Lion Brian's campaign, please make a check to Lion Brian Campaign Fund. The funds can only come out of the club's Administrative Account. No public funds can be accepted.

Donations can be mailed to:

If you would like to donate a fantastic raffle basket for the Sheehan Campaign raffle room at the Multiple Convention, please contact PCC Brian/Lion Rose Thies at roseco@frontiernet.net.

Global Leadership Team/Technology

A couple of weeks ago Lion Monkey(Don) and I attended the USA/Canada Forum held in Des Moines, Iowa. I was so excited to see the first timers from our District!!! I LOVE the Forum and am not ashamed to admit it. You get to meet people that you are friends with on Facebook, make new friends, participate in lively discussions, eat and socialize but most of all you learn something new. Is it always about Lions? Nope. There were seminars about Public Speaking, some about Technology, some about accepting change in your personal/professional life..the list goes on... So in saying that next year's USA/Canada Forum is going to be in Calgary, Alberta Canada from September-15-September 17, 2022. For more information and to register go to lionsforum.org.

Drumroll please.....the 104th Lions International Convention will be held June 24-June 28, 2022 in Montreal, Quebec Canada-Registration opens on October 1st, 2021. At this time there is a planning committee putting together some bus options...stay tuned.

I am slowly getting the hang of the Technology role-I have reached out to others to help me and I learned a few tricks at the Forum. I am a work in progress but don't hesitate to contact me at lionannaw@gmail.com.

Disclaimer This is full steam ahead for now...it could change;)

Temporal Bone Dissection Lab

The Temporal Bone Dissection Lab, finished around 1995, was built with three sequential grants from the Lions that totaled about $250,000. Its purpose is to educate and train future surgeons. Not knowing the anatomy of the ear may cause serious consequences to patients due to injury to vital structures.

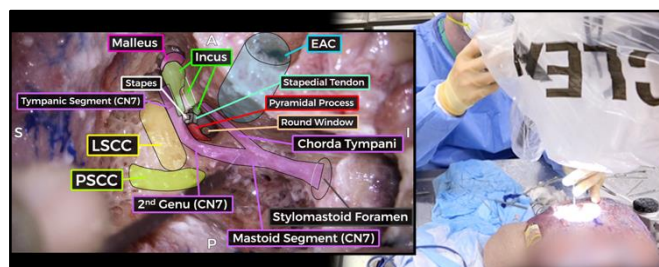

At the time that it was built, it had state-of-the-art air handling to remove dust and viral particles in the air. It was the first temporal bone lab with an integrated video system on all microscopes. The drills in the lab are duplicates for the equipment used in the OR, so students will be familiar with the equipment when they are finally doing surgery on real people.

The University of Minnesota bone lab was the first medical center to use this kind of lab to teach neurosurgery and audiologists from around the state and the nation as well as residents and medical students learning the basic anatomy of the ear.

The Minnesota Lions Hearing Foundation is busy with many projects, along with newer ones being proposed. The temporal bone lab has been a very longtime project that is in dire need of upgrading and modernization. Thanks for your continued support with all our projects. Without it, we wouldn't be able to fulfill our mission to the hard of hearing community.

Even Without a Diagnosis, a Furry Companion is the Best Prescription

September 14, 2021

In high school, Maya went from being able to work as a barista to just a few months later being unable to stay upright for a shift. Her ability to withstand activity has continued to diminish over the past five years, and she has spent that time looking for answers from many medical professionals. "I think anyone with a chronic or rare illness knows that half the battle is finding a doctor to figure out what's wrong with you. I've had several diagnoses in my life, some of them fit and some of them have not," says Maya. Some conditions she has are a migraine disorder and chronic fatigue syndrome, plus many other guesses that didn't get support from a second opinion. Doctors have agreed that Maya has a neuromuscular disease that affects her mobility and causes muscle weakness, fatigue, drowsiness and chronic pain.

A Team that Learns Together Grows Together

She began considering her need for a service dog about two years ago, thinking how one could help to conserve her energy on a daily basis and found Can Do Canines. She soon met Uzi, a 2-year-old Labrador Retriever, and remembers the joy in his eyes as he entered the training room to meet her, excited to work and ready to bond. "He loves being helpful and interacting with me. If he decides I'm not asking for the help I need, he will offer it. It's wonderful when I drop something without realizing it!" Little tasks added up quickly to drain Maya's energy over the day. "When I have muscle fatigue, any movement takes a lot of me." Also, hand tremors cause her to frequently drop small items. If a pen falls during class, it used to take extensive effort for Maya to get up, move around the desk, carefully pick up the pen, and return to her seat. Now, Uzi can easily grab the pen and return it in a matter of seconds, sparing Maya the onerous task.

On a regular basis, Uzi retrieves items from the floor, cleans up laundry to a basket, opens and closes her bedroom door, gets a bag of medications, tugs Maya's clothing off when she is too dizzy to lean or her dexterity won't cooperate. He also alerts a college roommate when Maya needs additional assistance, and stands still to act as a brace for her to lean on as a surface when she wants to get up from the ground.

Uzi wears a special counterbalance harness with a clipped-on handle that Maya holds when they walk. It's especially helpful on her dizzier days, or when she needs to turn around. Before Uzi, Maya relied on friends to keep her steady and moving. "When I walked across campus, I had to loop my arm in theirs to alleviate some of the exhausting work it is to walk 50 feet. I'd get in the grocery store by hanging on my roommate and prop myself on a cart." Her friends say they felt they used to walk for two people; now they just act as a guide for Uzi and Maya to get to the destination.

Additionally, Maya occasionally has idiopathic episodes of an altered level of consciousness, when she has trouble interacting with the world around her. She loses track of where she is and doesn't know who comes and goes from the room, awake but unresponsive. "They're pretty terrifying for me. It feels very vulnerable and very isolating. When I have these spells, I'll ask Uzi to snuggle and he'll put his body on my legs. It feels a lot less scary to know you have this being with you and here to help." The light pressure therapy is able to keep Maya feeling connected to reality, and it enables her to recover more easily.

Thrilled to Feel Her Age

Before meeting her match, Maya was concerned that the dog wouldn't really want to bond with her since they've had so many good homes, that they wouldn't really want to replace those loving people. She worried that, "I would have a dog view me as their employer, and not like his family." Uzi has proven many times already that there is nowhere else he'd rather be and no one else he'd rather be with. He enhances the independence and confidence that enables Maya to experience and embrace life more. "It's a part-time job to keep up with able-bodied people, and it feels a lot more manageable now."

Maya has incredible insight about what Uzi has changed for her. "One of the hardest parts about being young and chronically ill is that you don't feel your age very often with the limitations you have and barriers you encounter. I'm most grateful for the moments when I get to feel like a 20-year-old college student. That's the best part of having him." She continues, "I'm absolutely so grateful for this. Everyone's hard work and donations are going to shape my life for the next 10 or more years. We see these beautifully trained dogs and think they just come out like this, but they don't!" She also credits his prison handlers, who "went above and beyond in teaching him not just how to be a [service dog], but lots of fun tricks that help me connect with the fact that he's just a dog that likes to have fun at the end of the day."

Thank you to all those who made this partnership possible:

I hope that all clubs have ordered their Peace Poster kits and have already gotten them into the hands of the students.

What a wonderful theme for this year's Peace Poster Contest. I cannot wait to see how our youth depict this in their drawings. Now, more than ever, our youth need to express themselves through art.

Remember if you want to sponsor more than one Peace Poster, you must purchase a kit for each entry to the District. Why?? There is a special sticker that goes on the back of each poster submitted to the District and this is included in each Peace Poster kit. It is time to get those kits ordered so that when school begins you can get the information to the youth. Some already ordered the kits and gave the information to the students so they could work on them over the summer which is fantastic. Deadline to submit posters to me is November 15th.

Please let me know if you have any questions about the Peace Poster project. I am also available to come to your meeting to promote the project.

Born Learning Trail

The Lake Crystal Lions have partnered with TBEI and the United Way to bring the United Way's Born Learning Trail to Lake Crystal. Lake Crystal is only the 2nd city in Minnesota to have implemented this.

Born Learning is designed as a tool for long-lasting community change that supports young children. It has three cornerstones:

Awareness – Providing important information about how young children learn.

Education – Providing easy, fun action steps that parents, grandparents and caregivers can use every day.

Action – Providing a visible platform for public policy and action.

The program's goal is to inspire everyone who impacts young children to make the best possible decisions to boost school readiness. And we aim to give each of them the tools to make long-lasting community change.

The following interaction stations were installed in Marston Park in Lake Crystal by the City of Lake Crystal and the Lake Crystal Lions. Pictured here is Lion Ryan Yunkers and Lion Dee Pendergast.

The Lake Crystal Lions helped out at the Minnesota State Fair. Lion Laurie Williams and Lion Janet Knakmuhs worked at the Lion's booth located in the Education Building on Sept 27th.
