HOW TO WOW (DOING IT ON A BUDGET)

SOLUTION 1

For facilities with a rec swim pool, let's add Wow by offering a unique organized activity in the middle of Rec Swim hours. Kids pay extra to play, or perhaps earn tickets during the day. Fun to participate; Fun to watch; Wow for all. Here's some ideas:

TANK BATTLES: Set aside a section of your pool; or for smaller pools, have all the swimmers take a break to watch. Kids Pay Extra For (or Earn Tickets For) the privilege of doing battle with amazing Pool Tanks.

An inflatable tank pool float

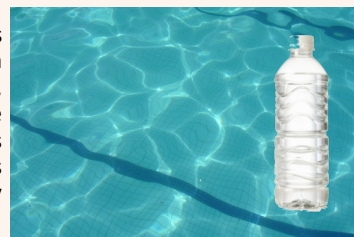

With a working water cannon and foot pedals to get around!

PING PONG HUNT: There are many Contests you can do during Set Aside Time". Here, the balls are painted with a colored dot. Teams or Indiv race to find their balls. Lose pts for wrong balls. Most pts = Prize.

INVISI-BOTTLE HUNT: This similar contest idea uses a clear full water bottle, which becomes invisible under water. Contestants stand on side, while it is thrown in, & then they hunt for it. Finder = Prize.

FLOATING GOLF: The mat floats in the middle of water. Contestants use a pitching wedge to lob the Velcro golf balls onto the mat for a score. The higher the score they earn, the better prize they win.

ROLLER RACES: Kids love to play with the Aqua-Rollers. We can offer this activity based on a 5 minute usage intervals, or perhaps set it up as a race, where winner wins a prize. Or, just use basic floaties for the race.

WATER WALKERS: The Aqua-Rollers above are good for younger ages, but these Bubble Balls are excellent for all ages (Kids to Adults). Participants pay (or earn tickets) for the privilege to walk on water for 5-10 min.

WATER SCOOTERS: This is a Super Wow idea. The under water scooters are a huge draw that folks keep coming back for more. Perhaps set up an under water obstacle course and challenge them to scooter through it.

POOL GAMES: In addition to the challenges & contests we have explored, we can also use the Set Aside Time to organize pool games for participants, like: Sharks & Minnows, Marco Polo, Pool Freeze Tag, Etc.
