Missi Matthews

Host, Sideline Reporter

WDVE 102.5 FM - Pittsburgh Steelers

Missi Matthews is an Emmy Award-Winning journalist who has covered the Pittsburgh Steelers as a reporter, host, and producer since 2012. A lifelong resident of Western Pennsylvania, Missi grew up in Plum and attended the University of Pittsburgh before beginning her professional career in broadcasting, a career that began with stints in Johnstown (WJAC-TV) and Harrisburg (FOX43-TV), before moving back home to Pittsburgh where she worked at WTAE-TV.

Missi joined WDVE-FM, the flagship station of the Steelers Radio Network, as a sideline reporter and studio host beginning in 2018. Missi also hosts the Mike Tomlin Show on KDKA-TV, and she serves as the sideline reporter for Steelers' preseason games, in addition to other duties.

Missi also makes time to contribute to 412 Food Rescue and Rock Steelers Style, the Steelers' signature charity event, which is an annual fashion show benefiting the UPMC Sports Medicine Concussion Program and the Cancer Caring Center.

Outside of football, Missi is raising two sports-loving sons with her husband, Brad, and loves to take Pure Barre classes and attend Pitt sporting events.
