Sister Sue Fazzini
Benedictine Sisters of Pittsburgh

Sister Sue Fazzini learned the concept of service at a young age by watching the example of her parents. Both Mario and Carole Fazzini emphasized to their children that whatever we have is to be shared with those in need, and it is our responsibility to help wherever we can—a concept taken seriously in the Fazzini family.

With the encouragement of her Benedictine Community and along with Sister Audrey Quinn, the Greene County Mission was founded as a means of assisting the community and mentoring others to live their best life.

Working in the field of addictions and mental health treatment for the past 34 years has provided Sister Sue many opportunities to mentor and assist others through their difficult journey. As a leader where she serves, Sister Sue says her life has been blessed by observing the tenacity of those on this journey of life.

Sister Audrey Quinn

As a member of the Pittsburgh Benedictines, Sister Audrey Quinn served as an elementary and secondary educator, a mentor, a parent to hundreds of foster children, and most recently as the director of the Greene County Salvation Army Service Center.

Sister Audrey has been asked to serve as a leader on numerous boards in Greene County, always with the goal of improving the lives of others. Whether driving for Meals on Wheels, organizing our Heart and Sole shoe drive, or serving on local boards, she has always worked to empower others through service.
