Dr. Tracey Conti

Chair, Department of Family Medicine
*University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine/
UPMC*

Dr. Tracey Conti is the newly appointed chair of the Department of Family Medicine at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine and UPMC. She previously served several roles in the department, including vice chair for education and practice integration, program director for the UPMC McKeesport Family Medicine Residency Program, and most recently, executive vice chair. She is a graduate of Temple University School of Medicine and completed her family medicine residency at the University of Maryland where she served as chief resident. Dr. Conti is fellowship trained in women's health and faculty development.

Dr. Conti is passionate about health equity as it was a driving force for her to pursue a medical career. She is a member of the Black Equity Coalition. This Pittsburgh-based coalition is a group of public health researchers, businesspeople, and elected officials working to address health equity as a way to secure better health and economic outcomes for the black community. She is a member of the board of directors for the UPMC Health Plan and was also selected to lead the primary care subgroup of the UPMC Board of Directors Health Equity Committee. Her clinical and advocacy interests include health disparities and healthcare delivery to underserved communities, medical education, and women's health. She is a champion for patient empowerment through education and the development of strong patient-physician partnerships to optimize individual, family, and community healthcare.
