Both market reach and ease of access has Thailand ranking 26th in the Doing Business 2018 report by World Bank.

An eye on innovation

Thailand 4.0 has the government of Thailand identifying the key industries that will spur economic growth. The policy focuses on innovation-driven sectors, or those with potential to transform with innovation. These include Bio-tech, Smart Devices, Robotics and Mechatronics, Advanced Medical Products and more.

Collaborative spirit

10 Special Economic Zones will be established with Thailand's neighbors to facilitate a smoother trade flow and enjoying the benefits of connectivity with an emerging ASEAN market. An Eastern Economic Corridor will also be set-up to provide special investment opportunities. It will strengthen leading industries and be a springboard location to ASEAN, China, and India. All this feeds to the 'Grow Together' policy being fostered by the government.
