School Philosophy

Our mission at C4GD School of Diplomatic Leadership is to develop 21st global diplomats to go throughout the world targeting various sectors of life, demonstrating the principles and practices of the GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM in order to spread peace throughout the world. The Bible declares, “...we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God were pleading through us: we implore you on Christ’s behalf, be reconciled to God”

We are committed to offering an education that emphasis the Gospel of Christ as the kingdom of God here on earth. We labor diligently to provide a place where students are developed to counsel and advise kings, queens, government officials, aristocrats, professionals, marketplace workers, churchgoers, etc. consistent with the teaching of the GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM. Through the courses offered at at the School, each student will gain a solid understanding of the Word of God from the perspective of the globe governmental order.

Organization

Center for Global Diplomacy (C4GD) School of Diplomatic Leadership is an initiative of Churches In One Accord 501(c)(3) Non-Profit Organization incorporated in the Commonwealth of the State of Virginia in 1999 and later registered in the State of Louisiana. The official leadership of Churches In One Accord is the Board of Directors, who appointed by invitation members to the Board of Governors.

Mission

The School's mission is to educate leaders using theologicql principles to spread peace through diplomacy. C4GD specifically targets leaders from all walks of life desiring to bring peace into the public square in hope of building better families, communities, cities, states and countries. The leadership of the School views dysfunctional systems as public health issues and structural impediments to civic societies everywhere. The leadership is dedicated to promote the public health and progress of individuals, organizations and governments all over the world. The aim is to reshape the ways leaders, both spiritual and secular view their public responsibilities by extracting diplomatic concepts from biblical principles designed to impact every system of life whether public policy, education, economics, arts & entertainment, science, business and of course faith.

Vision

The former president of the United States of America, Barack Obama talked about Nelson Mandela's request of him. "And I'd like to ask you to make a commitment, right here, right now, to honor the life of one of history's great giants. Tell me what you're doing, no matter how large or small, to make the world a better place." Barack Obama felt that was the most important lesson given to him. In keeping with Barack's most important lesson from Nelson Mandela here is the vision of the School.

The late Dr. Myles and Ruth Munroe, two of history's great giants who became global diplomatic leaders charge my wife, Grace and I to make a commitment to go throughout America, in particular, spreading the Gospel of the Kingdom of God. The mandate was not to foster a religious movement by means of launching another sectarian dogmatic local church. It was more about reaching leaders from all walks of life, who desired to be agents of change. One of my favorite quotes of Dr. Munroe is “Transforming followers into leaders and leaders into agents of change.” From that quote, the assignment became very clear. I was to find leaders, who wanted to make a change in the world and equip them with effective systems for affecting people. Such that, my mantra evolved as “equipping agents of change with effective systems for changing the world.”

The School

C4GD School of Diplomatic Leadership and Harvard University started in similar manner. One of the most prestigious institutions of higher learning in all the world started with the vote of the Great and General Court of the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1636 not having a single building, instructor, or student. Yet, in 1639 the school was renamed “Harvard” in honor of Minister John Harvard, who had bequeathed to the school his entire library and half of his monetary estate. The foundation of Harvard is the result of public servants and a minister, thus today we have Harvard University. Well, C4GD School of Diplomatic Leadership started not owning a building, having one instructor and five (5) students. Lead by a minister the School is having its first commencement ceremony in the Commonwealth of the State of Virginia. Don’t despise small beginnings.

Academic Admissions Policy

The academic admissions policy into the School has two tracks, traditional or practitioner. The traditional track requires the completion of an undergraduate degree along with the submission of official transcripts from the college or university. This track qualifies the student to start the four (4) years post-baccalaureate degree, requiring Graduate Record Examinations commonly known as the GRE test with exception. The practitioner track requires seven (7) or more documented years of professional, or managerial, or supervisory employment not requiring but will accept professional license or certification by the State, along with the completion of associates degree or high school or the equivalency substantiated by the submission of transcripts.

Academic admissions policy for a one-year certificate program does not require an undergraduate degree, nor requires previous professional, managerial, or supervisory employment, or high school completion or equivalency with exception. However, the student must have the ability to read, write and comprehend the materials.

Comprehensive Cumulative Post Baccalaureate Degree Program

C4GD School of Diplomatic Leadership offers a four (4) years professional Doctor of Diplomacy (DDipl). It is designed as a comprehensive cumulative post-baccalaureate degree program. The student in the first year will enroll in our self-study learning program, the student in the second year will learn diplomatic concepts, the third year diplomatic observation and analysis and in the fourth year the completion of a diplomatic project or professional credentialing, practical field internship then a dissertation or a written case study report will complete the doctorate degree requirements. The School patterns its doctorate degree to that of the Doctor of Physical Therapy (DPT) degree, a post-baccalaureate clinical doctorate.

Certificate Program

The certificate program offers the first year's course work only. Upon satisfactory completion consistent with the School's attendance policy the student will receive a certificate in Diplomatic Concepts at the annual graduation. Also, the School has added the Wainwright Global, Inc. Certified Professional Coach certificate program.

Alumnus & Honorary Degree

As for post-graduate students, the Board of Governors will have the task of developing the Alumnus Chapter. In addition, the Board of Governors will recognize and examine philanthropic works and professional contributions for conferring an honorary degree. Honorary Degrees, if an will be bestowed upon deserving individuals submitting documentation, references, and history of work for such a great honor. Submission of mini-thesis may be required to receive honorary degree for lifetime of service from individual. Honorary Degree will not be awarded based on monetary contributions and only on rare occasions every 5 to 7 years if an outstanding individual meet all qualifications and pass exit interview with Board of Governors.

School Colors

The official school colors are gold as defined in the large area of the hood, white as defined in the small area of the hood, and black as found in the base of the hood. The degree color is light blue or might change if the student's third year of work warrants.

School Calendar

C4GD operates on an annual modular system the start date is once a year (the second Monday in the month of August). However, due to the variety of programs offered in the length of programs the enrollment period is extended to approximately 2 weeks after the start date. Please contact the college for upcoming dates. Holidays will be adjusted per country the student resides.

Academic Dishonesty Policy

1. Academic dishonesty includes such things as cheating, inventing false information or citations, plagiarism and helping someone else commit an act of academic dishonesty. It usually involves an attempt by a student to show possession of a level of knowledge or skill that he/she does not possess.

2. Course instructors have the initial responsibility for detecting and dealing with academic dishonesty. Instructors who believe that an act of academic dishonesty has occurred are obligated to discuss the matter with the student(s) involved. Instructors should possess reasonable evidence of academic dishonesty. However, if circumstances prevent consultation with student(s), instructors may take whatever action (subject to student appeal) they deem appropriate.

3. Instructors who are convinced by the evidence that a student is guilty of academic dishonesty shall assign an appropriate academic penalty. If the instructors believe that the academic dishonesty reflects on the student's academic performance or the academic integrity in a course, the student's grade should be adversely affected. Suggested guidelines for appropriate actions are: an oral reprimand in cases where there is reasonable doubt that the student knew his/her action constituted academic dishonesty; a failing grade on the particular paper, project or examination where the act of dishonesty was unpremeditated, or where there were significant mitigating circumstances; a failing grade in the course where the dishonesty was premeditated or planned. The instructors will file incident reports with the Vice President for Academic Affairs and for Student Affairs or his or her designee. These reports shall include a description of the alleged incident of academic dishonesty, any relevant documentation, and any recommendations for action that he/she deems appropriate.

4. The Vice President for Student Affairs shall maintain an Academic Dishonesty File of all cases of academic dishonesty with the appropriate documentation.

5. Student may appeal any actions taken on charges of academic dishonesty to the "Academic Appeals Board."

6. The Academic Appeals Board shall consist of faculty and at least one student.

7. Individuals may not participate as members of the Academic Appeals Board if they are participants in an appeal.

8. The decision of the Academic Appeals Board will be forwarded to the President of C4GD School of Diplomatic Leadership, whose decision is final.

For Doctoral Student

The doctoral student must understand there might be a separation of Church and State in their country. However, all of our doctoral students will have developed skills necessary to operate as professionals or practitioners in any of the following disciplines: diplomats, negotiators, counselors, advisors, coaches, clergy, government officials, medical doctor, lawyer, educators, or business owners in those industries. The doctoral student is advised to participate in industry specific associations, acquire memberships, complete certifications or licensing to increase his or her qualifications in his or her industry in accordance with public or private requirements. C4GD School of Diplomatic Leadership encourages the doctoral student to acquire everything possible to gain the best professional standing in all marketplaces and industries across the world. The doctoral student practicum and/or dissertation will create opportunities for the doctoral student to work with Private or Public Organizations, Governments, and Alliances such as NATO or United Nations or any other global organization fostering diplomacy around the world.

I. NATO Contact Point Embassy: \(NATO Public Diplomacy Division's Co-Sponsorship Grants\)

The role of the Public Diplomacy Division's Engagements Section

The Engagements Section's goal is to foster awareness and understanding of NATO, its values, policies and activities, and to increase the level of debate on peace, security and defense related issues. To this end, the Section conducts and supports a wide range of public diplomacy activities, such as conferences, seminars and information campaigns, meant to reach out to opinion formers, professionals, the successor generation and other relevant audiences.

Co-sponsorship for public diplomacy activities on peace and security-related issues

Co-sponsorship applications must be submitted two months prior to the event.

Co-sponsorship for conferences, seminars, workshops and other relevant public diplomacy activities, such as digital multimedia or online projects, on peace and security-related issues is available in the form of discretionary grants from NATO's Public Diplomacy Division. Typically, recipients for these grants are NGOs, universities, think tanks and other pertinent civil society organizations. Projects should focus on different aspects of NATO's current agenda, and priority is given to projects related to the following topics:

- Collective defense
- Cooperative Security and NATO's partnerships
- NATO's role in crisis management
- NATO's open door policy
- Alliance capabilities / Smart Defense

The NATO Public Diplomacy Division uses the following criteria to select projects for co-sponsorship:

1. Relevance to NATO's current agenda and communication priorities.
2. Educational value and/or relevance to public discussion of peace and security issues; the contribution of the project to NATO's goal of developing an informed debate on these issues.
3. Expected impact and reach of the project.
4. Ability to use resources efficiently to achieve the expected outcome.
5. Applicants from partner countries should be aware that in every partner country an embassy of one of the NATO member states operates as a NATO Contact Point, operating as a channel for disseminating information and facilitating programs (see list of the current NATO Contact Point Embassies in partner countries). In Russia, Ukraine and Georgia, NATO offices serve as a focal point for information and documentation. Applicants from partner countries should coordinate with the relevant Contact Point Embassy or NATO office during all phases of a NATO-sponsored project.
6. NATO will not normally cover more than 50 per cent of total costs. Exceptions can be considered depending on the quality of the project (cf. part 5 of the NATO application form "Financial rules for organizations applying for NATO subsidies for Public Diplomacy projects or programs"). In general, only the following expenses can be accepted for reimbursement by NATO: transportation to and from the venue, hotel accommodation, and meals for participants; conference room rental; printing and distribution of programs and post-activity conference proceedings, and administrative expenses directly related to the activity (which cannot include routine expenses which would have been incurred even if the activity had not taken place). Staff salaries directly related to the activity can be covered up to a maximum of 5% of the total contribution that NATO has approved towards the activity. However, the usage of these funds will have to be certified with appropriate documentation and signed by the NGO financial officer. Final reports must be sent within three months following the event. For a full explanation, please refer to Financial Rules for Organizations applying for Conferences and Seminars.
7. The resources which NATO has available for information activities are limited and the Public Diplomacy Division receives far more requests for co-sponsorship than it can support. It is not NATO's normal practice to sponsor the same organization more than once in the same calendar year.
8. If you are looking for information on NATO's Science for Peace and Security (SPS) Program, please click here.

II. United Nations Economics and Social Council: \(Introduction to ECOSOC Consultative Status\)

As of May 1, 2017: The organizational profile for " Center for Global Diplomacy " has been accepted in DESA's Civil Society database. Best regards, Administrator, DESA's Civil Society database

France

The first venue by which non-governmental organizations took a role in formal UN deliberations was through the Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC). In 1945, 41 NGOs were granted consultative status by the council; by 1992 more than 700 NGOs had attained consultative status and the number has been steadily increasing ever since with more than 4,000 organizations today.

Article 71 of the UN Charter opened the door by providing suitable arrangements for consultations with non-governmental organizations. The consultative relationship with ECOSOC is governed by ECOSOC resolution 1996/31, which outlines the eligibility requirements for consultative status, rights and obligations of NGOs in consultative status, procedures for withdrawal or suspension of consultative status, the role and functions of the ECOSOC Committee on NGOs, and the responsibilities of the United Nations Secretariat in supporting the consultative relationship.

Consultative status is granted by ECOSOC upon recommendation of the Committee on NGOs, which is composed by 19 Member States.

Who is Eligible?

Consultative relationships may be established with international, regional, sub-regional, national non-governmental organizations, non-profit organizations, public sector or voluntary organizations. NGOs affiliated to an international organization already in status may be admitted provided that they can demonstrate that their program of work has direct relevance to the aims and purposes of the United Nations.

To be eligible for consultative status, an NGO must have been in existence (officially recognized by a government) for at least two years, must have an established headquarters, a democratically-adopted constitution, authority to speak for its members, a representative structure, appropriate mechanisms of accountability and democratic and transparent decision-making processes. The basic resources of the organization must be derived mainly from contributions of the national affiliates or other components or from individual members.

Organizations established by governments or intergovernmental agreements are not considered NGOs.

General, Special and Roster status

There are three categories of status: General consultative status, Special consultative status and Roster status.

General consultative status is reserved for large international NGOs whose area of work cover most of the issues on the agenda of ECOSOC and its subsidiary bodies. These tend to be fairly large, established international NGOs with a broad geographical reach.

Special consultative status is granted to NGOs which have a special competence in, and are concerned specifically with, only a few of the fields of activity covered by the ECOSOC. These NGOs tend to be smaller and more recently established.

Organizations that apply for consultative status but do not fit in any of the other categories are usually included in the Roster. These NGOs tend to have a rather narrow and/or technical focus. NGOs that have formal status with other UN bodies or specialized agencies (FAO, ILO, UNCTAD, UNESCO, UNIDO, WHO and others), can be included on the ECOSOC Roster. The roster lists NGOs that ECOSOC or the UN Secretary-General considers can make "occasional and useful contributions to the work of the Council or its subsidiary bodies."

Participation in International Conferences

Non-governmental organizations in general, special or roster consultative status that express their wish to attend conferences convened by the United Nations shall be accredited for participation. Other non-governmental organizations wishing to be accredited may apply to the Secretariat of the conference for this purpose.

III. Certification and Licensing (in any of the areas below)

It's important to note that counselors are subject to the laws of their own state. If an individual is licensed, methodologies employed must be within the allowable scope of duty. And if one isn't licensed? All states regulate the counseling profession. However, they may allow individuals from many backgrounds to perform some counseling-related duties provided they don't overstep their scope of duty use a job title that would mislead the public.

It is helpful to have formal education in a related field, be it health care, human services, or religion. Being on a personal spiritual path is of course also important. There are many courses in spiritual counseling -- some online -- but it's important to be a cautious consumer.
