

POLICY REVIEW & DEVELOPMENT

Creating a written drug-free policy that reflects the needs of your workplace and associated laws is a key part of a successful workplace program. In a nutshell, it helps a company to avoid hiring individuals who pose a safety risk, and to identify individuals who have addiction issues. A well written drug and alcohol program will also take it one step further by accessing a recovery program and help the individuals to return to work safely. If you are unsure if your current policy meets industry standards or need assistance in developing one from scratch, we can help!
