

Sandy Wagner Bio

Sandy Wagner is an Associate Professor at the Defense Language Institute Foreign Language Center. In her current position, she is the Academic Specialist for the Directorate of Continuing Education, School of Distance Learning, overseeing the transition to virtual learning and instruction. She also provides professional development and training in linguistics, technology integration, and pedagogical practices for language learning.