

With over 20 years of experience in the education technology and federal online training sectors, John M. DeFonzo has established himself as a leading expert in the field. He has contributed to notable organizations such as Sakai, Canvas, and Moodle, and currently serves as the Manager of the Defense Channels Program at Learn To Win, a company that provides active learning experiences for mission readiness training.

John's expertise lies in the enterprise deployment of online learning technologies particularly as they are implemented as part of an overall total learning architecture. John has led enterprise learning initiatives for several key federal and Department of Defense agencies, including the entire U.S. Army, U.S. Air Force, U.S. Coast Guard, Department of Homeland Security, Veterans Affairs, and the Department of Justice.

Recently appointed to the FGDLA Board, John is dedicated to advancing emerging distance and online learning technologies within the Federal / DoD market. His passion for innovation in education continues to drive him as he works to enhance training solutions for federal agencies and beyond.