Dear Mr. Rudnick,

On behalf of the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum, I would like to thank you for the donation of God's Formula and Why I need a formula to live by: A Holocaust Remembrance of Milk and Honey. Your donation will enrich the Library's collection of materials on the history of the Holocaust. Researchers and scholars using the Library will no doubt benefit from the addition of your generous gift.

As we strive to provide greater access to materials on the Holocaust we appreciate contributions such as yours that assist us in our mission. Once again, thank you for thinking of the Library.

Sincerely,

Travis A. Roxlau

Acting Director of the Library

Education

The Holocaust Museum and Learning-Center is an invaluable resource for educators around the Midwest. Each year, over 22,000 students from middle schools, high schools, and colleges visit the Museum to learn the history and lessons of the Holocaust. In addition, the HMLC has an extensive collection of videos that are available to teachers at no charge. If you are a teacher who is interested in bringing a student group to the Museum, please review the following information about class visits and resources for studying the Holocaust. The links below will provide you with information to help you teaching the history of the Holocaust. If you would like to schedule a tour after reviewing this information, contact the HMLC at 314-442-3711.

Hebrew school class of Gustav Schonfeld (seated directly beneath the rabbi), Munkacs, Czechoslovakia, 1939. Schonfeld is the only person in the photograph known to survive the Holocaust. He became a professor of medicine at Washington University in St. Louis.

SCHEDULING

Group tours of the Holocaust Museum & Learning Center are generally scheduled weekdays in the morning at 9:30 a.m. and afternoons between 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. We recommend that tours be scheduled at least two months in advance. Please call our office at 314-442-3711, and press 1 to leave all information regarding your tour. We will send you a confirmation notice for your tour.

Dear Sandy,

We recently received Pathway to Heaven, your piece of "reflectionism" art, as well as two copies of the book, God's Formula.

In acknowledging receipt of these items, may I say that your artwork--using barbed wire and a mirror along with a picture of Terezin-- is starkly remindful of a horrible event in history. While we are a museum on hate and intolerance, we are not an art gailery, and therefore cannot guarantee exactly where the artwork will hang as I am sure Lyn Berner, our administrative assistant, explained to you. But we appreciate the gift of art, and it will be treated with respect. We also acknowledge the creative contribution of Ralph Morgan, your wife's grandfather.

God's Formula will be entered into our collection database, and will be made available eventually to researchers and educators.

Again we thank you. It was good of you to think of us when deciding to donate your artwork.

Dear Counsel Rudnick

On behalf of the Superintendent, Lt Gen Michael C. Gould, and the men and women of the United States Air Force Academy, the McDermott Library is most grateful to receive the donation of your books: God's Formula: Doing Good Deeds, Open Minded, Moving in a Positive Direction, and Life is Peace: The Code to Resolve Individual and Group Conflict.

Books donated to the U S Air Force Academy Libraries become the property of the Academy and are forwarded to the subject bibliographer for his or her recommendation for adding to the collection. Books that are not duplicates or which are editions of heavily used titles are usually added to the general collection where they will be available for use by cadets, faculty, and visiting scholars. Books not added to the collection will be offered to other Air Force, military, or academic libraries. A copy of our gift policy is attached.

It is through the continuing interest and support of citizens like you that the Academy has been able to acquire some of its most useful acquisitions. We promise to be good stewards of the trust you have shown in us by giving us these books.

On a personal note, I enjoyed talking to you some months ago and appreciate your sending both books. My apologies for the tardiness of this letter, but as we teach our cadets to say, "No excuse, Sir."

Dear Mr. Rudnick,

On behalf of the Virginia Holocaust Museum, I would like to thank you for your kind donation of God's Formula. We are deeply honored you chose to support the Museum's library.

Our hope is to eventually have a nationally recognized research library to support the Museum's mission of educating future generations on the dangers of intolerance. Your generosity is particularly appreciated as we take the first steps with our up-coming expansion.

I have included two copies of our donation acceptance form. Please provide a signature and any missing information. One form must be returned and the other is for your personal records. Thank you again for your contribution to our Museum.

Sincerely,

Timothy Hensley

Librarian

Anne Frank: A History For Today

On display at the AFC Gallery: The life history of Anne Frank and her family is the leading thread running through this exhibit. The family's story is juxtaposed against world events before, during and after the rise to power of Adolf Hitler and the Nazi party. The exhibit includes photographs of the family and shows how people were persecuted ...

Donations Policy

The Ivan M. Stettenheim Library welcomes gifts of new and used books, audio and visual media and related items. Items will be added to the library's collection in accordance with the selection policy of the library. Once donated, items become the property of the Ivan M. Stettenheim Library of Congregation Emanu-El of the City of New York, and may be given to the Museum, to the staff for the purposes of research or teaching, other libraries and non-profit agencies, sold, traded, or discarded if they are not added to the collection. Donated items will not be returned to the donor and the library will not accept any item that is not an outright gift. The library will acknowledge receipt of donated items but is unable to set fair market or appraisal values. It is recommended that the donor make a list of items donated. If items are being donated to obtain a tax benefit, it is the donor's responsibility to establish fair market value or obtain expert assistance in establishing any value. The library also reserves the right to decide when a gift added to the collection must be withdrawn. Donated items will be identified with special donor plates whenever possible and placed in the appropriate section of the collection.

Materials that no longer fit the roles and functions of the library will be withdrawn from the collection. This may include materials that are damaged, include obsolete information, or are no longer used. Decisions will be based on accepted professional practice and the professional judgment of the librarian (library director) or designated staff. When necessary, local specialists will be consulted to determine the continued relevance and reliability of materials. Discarded items may be given to other libraries and non-profit agencies, sold, traded, or discarded. No items may be sold or given directly to individuals or groups.

Dear Mr. Rudnick,

I am pleased to be able to confirm receipt of a copy of your publication, God's Formula, for our library.

Although it pushes the envelope of our collection practices somewhat, your relationship to local families of Holocaust Survivors entitles it to an honored place on our shelves and we are ready to make it available to people in our community.

Thank you again for donating a copy to us.

Dear Mr. Rudnick:

Thank you so much for your generous donation of two Holocaust publications to the St. Louis Holocaust Museum and Learning Center. As our title implies, our mission is to both commemorate the Holocaust as well as to teach the lessons which resonate from this tragic history—especially to young people—so that such tragedies will not occur again. Unfortunately, the lessons of the Holocaust have clearly not been learned, as evidenced by the genocides that have taken place, and continue to happen even today. Your publications, geared as they are to young audiences are greatly needed so that these valuable lessons can be taught and impressed upon young minds, who will grow up to play crucial roles in the future.

I was especially impressed with the beautiful illustrations that complement the text of "A Holocaust Remembrance of Milk and Honey." These colorful and vivid images will certainly attract the attention of young readers who will also appreciate the clear age appropriate text. The dedication to the 1.5 million who perished in the Holocaust and the recognition of the forty four French youngsters who were murdered, was especially touching and powerful.

In addition, I was very impressed by the clarity and practicality of "God's Formula." While I know this text is geared to the young reader, the lessons conveyed would certainly serve to benefit a reader of any age-myself included!

Again, thanks so much for this generous donation which will become a significant mart of our museum book collection. Your open-heartedness is much appreciated.

All good wishes, Sincerely,

Daniel A. Reich

Dear Mr. Rudnick:

Thank you so much for the beautiful publication, J Vision: The Story of Sampson The Golden Goat, which arrived in today's mail. We are so grateful for yet another thoughtful and beautifully illustrated publication, to add to those you have already generously donated to the St. Louis Holocaust Museum and Learning Center. Such resources, which can assist in teaching good character traits, are always welcome. This publication, written to be accessible to young readers, clearly also has much to teach adults as well- especially in our world today.

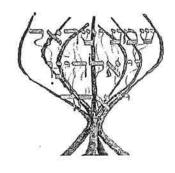

Again, thank you so much for your generous donation. I found the dedication to your cousins who perished in the Holocaust to be very moving, and your final dedication, to the millions willing to learn these important lessons, equally important.

Wishing you all continued success in your educational mission. All good wishes for a joyous Passover.

Sincerely,

Daniel A. Reich
