In the event of an accident, there could be a prolonged delay in obtaining medical assistance, due to the sometimes remote areas in which Captain Steve's Fishing Lodge guides operate and the location of the Lodge. Evacuation will take place as quickly as possible, but could take several hours. We could also experience communication failures and breakdowns or faulty equipment. Please understand that the description of activities and rich is not intended to be a complete list of all possible activities and risks, and we ask you to acknowledge that the trip may include other risks that could result in property loss or damage, physical or emotional injury or even death. Dangerous Weather Conditions: Please be aware and advised that schedules can change without notice due to dangerous weather conditions. Should weather occur, Captain Steve's Fishing Lodge reserves the right to change the scheduled fishing excursion without notice. Scheduled saltwater trips can be substituted with freshwater trips and vice versa. Your safety is our highest priority, and we will do everything in our control to protect the safety of our clients. Though it may not be obvious to clients at the time a decision is made, please know we do this for your own safety.

Lingcod Trips: Lingcod trips are subject to weather conditions. Please be advised that this trip can be canceled at any time. Weather conditions are checked in the morning before departure. If weather is not conducive to a safe fishing experience Captain Steve's Fishing Lodge has the right to change the Lingcod trip, for your safety, to Halibut and/or Salmon fishing. If it is determined that it is unsafe to fish in the saltwater, other arrangements will be made for you to enjoy the day. No refunds will be made for this rare circumstance.

Halibut Limits: Currently the halibut limit is two fish per day, however, one can be any size, while the other, if kept, must be no more than 28in. It is the ultimate responsibility of the fishing license holder (client) to not break any laws knowingly or otherwise. If you are a state or federal employee you will obey all laws and if you see a law being broken deliberately or unknowingly, you will bring it to the attention of the captain (Guide) immediately.
