Come participate in this opportunity as a community to remember all our loved ones, especially those who have died in the past year. Please join us at this most memorable occasion. If you would like more information about the Mass or the Bereavement Ministry, call Jane Eichwald at (203) 838-4590. REFLECTION FROM FR. RALPH

The other day, as I was waiting to make a right hand turn to get to ShopRite, I was at a red light at the intersection of Scribner and Connecticut Avenues. As is the case from time to time, depending on traffic congestion and weather, the traffic light seemed to take forever to change. Suddenly, the first car waiting bolted through the intersection when the driver felt that he could do so safely. Now, the light was still red, so technically, what the driver did was illegal. So, setting aside a major life and death emergency, what we have in this example is a violation of a law that is both universally and morally binding on every owner/operator of a motor vehicle.

Now, seatbelts became a mandated standard for auto manufacturers in the United States in 1968, but the State of New York did not require them for drivers until 1984, and Connecticut followed in 1985. So, we can assume that for a time, all motor vehicles had seatbelts in them, and folks had the option of using them at their own discretion. Currently, and interestingly enough, under what is known as "secondary law," 15 states in the U.S. will give a citation for not using a seatbelt, if, and only if, a driver is pulled over for another reason.

What I have mentioned above are considerations over which we may ponder and pray when reading the scriptures for the Masses this weekend. Firstly, we know that God revealed His will over time - centuries; and ultimately fulfilled His will in Jesus Christ. While, at the same time, what God revealed to the Israelite people, though revealed to them at first, and at a certain moment during the course of the salvation history, is both universally binding and eternal. So, God's truth and will is for everyone, applies to everyone, and as disciples of Jesus Christ, we can always depend on what God reveals as "the way, the truth, and the life". (Jn 14:6)

To build on what is mentioned above, consider what we read in the Catechism of the Church: "The Old Testament is an indispensable part of Sacred Scripture. Its books are divinely inspired and retain a permanent value, for the Old Covenant has never been revoked. Indeed, 'the economy of the Old Testament was deliberately so oriented that it should prepare for and declare in prophecy the coming of Christ, redeemer of all men.' 'Even though they contain matters imperfect and provisional,' the books of the Old Testament bear witness to the whole divine pedagogy of God's saving love: these writings 'are a storehouse of sublime teaching on God and of sound wisdom on human life, as well as a wonderful treasury of prayers; in them, too, the mystery of our salvation is present in a hidden way'." (CCC 121-122)

But then we find elsewhere in the Catechism the following: "Law is a rule of conduct enacted by competent authority for the sake of the common good. The moral law presupposes the rational order, established among creatures for their good and to serve their final end, by the power, wisdom, and goodness of the Creator. All law finds its first and ultimate truth in the eternal law. Law is declared and established by reason as a participation in the providence of the living God, Creator and Redeemer of all. 'Such an ordinance of reason is what one calls law.'"

There are different expressions of the moral law, all of them interrelated: eternal law - the source, in God, of all law; natural law; revealed law, comprising the Old Law and the New Law, or Law of the Gospel; finally, civil and ecclesiastical laws.

The moral law finds its fullness and its unity in Christ. Jesus Christ is in person the way of perfection. He is the end of the law, for only he teaches and bestows the justice of God: 'For Christ is the end of the law, that every one who has faith may be justified.'" (CCC 1952-1953)

In summary, then, what we read from the Book of Deuteronomy and the Gospels this weekend demonstrates that God chose to reveal a "law of love" that surpasses all others. Love of God is first; and what we read from the Gospel this weekend reveals that love of neighbor necessarily flows from the love of God. The two are inseparable.

But there's something else we must keep in mind. As we read in the Catechism: "Authority does not derive its moral legitimacy from itself. It must not behave in a despotic manner, but must act for the common good as a 'moral force based on freedom and a sense of responsibility.' A human law has the character of law to the extent that it accords with right reason, and thus derives from the eternal law. Insofar as it falls short of right reason it is said to be an unjust law...Authority is exercised legitimately only when it seeks the common good of the group concerned and if it employs morally licit means to attain it. If rulers were to enact unjust laws or take measures contrary to the moral order, such arrangements would not be binding in conscience'." (CCC 1902-1903)

With all considered, as we strive to be good citizens and faithful disciples, our participation in the great plan of salvation must never be subject to our participation in society. The divine law, the natural law, and the laws and teachings of the Church come first, and civil law is always second. Further, regarding any law or policy at work in our society today that is in direct contradiction to what we believe as Catholics, or, regarding any law or policy that lends itself to half-truths or corruption, is a law or policy to which we are not morally bound. If we, as disciples of Jesus Christ, strive to live accordingly, we can be confident that we are "not far from the Kingdom of God". (Mk 12:34)

MEMORANDUM

TO: All Pastors and Faith Formation Leaders
FROM: Patrick Donovan
DATE: October 25, 2021
RE: Adult Confirmation Workshop

How many times are you faced with someone who wishes to be a sponsor, has been asked to be a Godparent, or is preparing for marriage only to discover that the individual lacks Confirmation. Even though he/she goes to Mass every Sunday, being Confirmed in their faith did not happen. The reasons are many, but what matters now is finding a solution.

On November 13, 2021, The Institute for Catholic Formation will be hosting a workshop for those adults (18 and over) who are practicing Catholics who lack only Confirmation (i.e., they have received Baptism and First Holy Communion). This workshop will serve as immediate preparation for the sacrament and those who participate will be permitted to join Bishop Caggiano at one of his upcoming celebrations of Confirmation. We will host another in the spring in advance of Pentecost Sunday.

We will begin by discussing the paperwork necessary and assist participants in requesting Baptismal certificates and making the appropriate connections with parish leaders. The rest of the day will focus on an overview of the sacrament, a discussion on the gifts of the Holy Spirit, and suggestions for being missionary disciples once they are confirmed.

Please consider sharing this information in your parish bulletins and on your parish websites. If your parish already has an avenue to form adults who lack Confirmation (outside RCIA), please continue to offer that opportunity. Since many parishes do not have a program for adults in this position, we wanted to fill that void.

Registration is open and there is no cost. Please visit this link to learn more and to register.
