Growing up in Pittsburgh in a musical, orchestral family, Marilyn is another of our dedicated fabric pressers. She met her husband in Cleveland and has been in Ohio ever since. Not a quilter, but when they were young, she sewed clothing for her 2 sons in what she laughingly called "the double-knit era". Her family also includes 2 grandchildren. Marilyn had the privilege of being a stay-at-home mom, and was actively involved as a volunteer as much as possible with her sons' school and other outside activities.

Marilyn became involved with us early on, when the group that now meets in Lexington was meeting at the Richland County Fairgrounds, coordinated by Kyle. While working for the AARP tax program she met someone else connected with Snuggled. So, she came in cold one day and said "I can iron". The rest is history.

Marilyn attended Mansfield and Lexington before moving from that area. We still get to see her at Mt. Gilead and Marion as often as she can make it, which is most months.

"Volunteering is in my blood. I love to touch the fabrics and see all the colors. And the socialization keeps me coming back, too." Besides attending in person to press, Marilyn has also been doing other behind-the-scenes tasks for Snuggled. She is our designated pillowcase launderer, presser and sorter. Recently, she has learned the fine art of cutting Fat quarters for Snuggled using a stripology ruler. So, if you see her walking out the door with her dear husband at the end of the day, as he carries the heavy box, that is what she will be doing at home between sewing days.
