BEING A GOLDDIGGER

There are many promises in the Bible; some are unconditional and others are conditional. For every problem there is a promise. Promises are like gold. They rarely are found on the surface. You must dig for them.

I was given a Bible when I joined the Church at age 12. I had no idea where to begin. I didn't even know that I was supposed to read it. When I did read it, it didn't make sense because I had no one to guide me. Once I realized that the Bible was my source of life after being saved, I decided I should read it. It was still difficult.

I then found a Bible with references and study helps. This was the best investment I ever made as a young Christian. The bible is full of words that are archaic, and I needed those words interpreted. I thank God for being led to Bible studies so I could learn more about the Lord. So many Christians never grow because they don't know how to be fed. Our spirits literally starve without feeding on the Word of God. I didn't know that Jesus died for my sin AND my diseases. When I discovered that truth everything changed. I prayed for my children, and they were healthier than they had ever been. Then I learned about the Baptism of the Holy Spirit, and how it gave me the power to be a witness. After receiving this impartation, I became bold, but still lacked knowledge.

My journey and yours begins by reading and studying the scriptures. You have to dig into them. Some of the spiritual digging tools are a Strong's Concordance, a Greek Interlinear Bible, and tapes and DVD's of people that have already gone down the path and found truths.

There is no lack for a Christian that determines to dig and find the promises. It starts by opening the cover of your Bible and digging! Be blessed in your quest!
