

May 22, 2020

Repost of: July 17, 2014

Prophetic Word

As given to Helen Sanders

Behold, behold, I shall do a new thing. The former things have come to naught and a new thing shall I do and declare. Yes, there have been hours spent in my service and hours spent before my face, and you have been seeking breakthrough like never before, and I would say to you that this day, yes, this day you shall see breakthrough like you have never seen. I have heard your cry, the cry of your spirit, and it has come before my throne, and I am honoring that cry and you shall surely see turnaround. You have been obedient to seek my face and hear my word, saith the Lord, and because of that obedience, I am bringing you through this time of lack and you shall surely see a turn around. Do not look to others as the source of this turn around, for it will be me that brings it. Man can only do a temporary fix, but when I do the turnaround it shall be a permanent fix. You have cried, and you have sought answers, and yes, my beloved child, the answers are here today and you shall surely see turn around. Turn around in relationships, turn around in your hearts' desires, turnaround in finances. Turn around in healing and so many other areas. You will feel almost delirious from the sudden change, but know it is I that is bringing it to pass. Do not think it is a small thing that I have done. For like in a chess game, the pieces have been lining up even though you could not see them, but because you have been faithful and obedient to do what I have asked, you shall certainly see the pieces come to play their part, and you shall see great victory. Hold fast to the promises that I have given you. Do not think for a moment that your cry has been left without reward, for I am sending rewards on every side of you. Do not think it is a light thing, on the paths that you have chosen, for it is the right path, and you shall certainly and surely see what the path will lead you to. There are many that have been called to go down this path, but they only went so far, and gave up. Yet, you, my child have held on to the vision, and sought me, and I am honoring your petitions and your cry saith the Lord. Yes, it shall certainly come to pass.