A SAINT OR AN AIN'T

Are you a "Saint" or are you an "Ain't"? You are one or the other. You were perhaps both, at different times of your life. First, let us look at "saint" by describing the false definition from the Roman Church.

The primary "qualification" of the Roman Church to be a saint is that the person performed at least three verifiable miracles during their lifetime as a follower of Christianity. When such a candidate is determined as qualified, they are then "beatified" for a period of time, after which the head of the church gives them "sainthood". The church people can then pray to that "saint" in the name of the Virgin Mary, instead of praying to Father God in the name of Jesus. It is not only unbiblical, but it is in direct violation of the word of God.

The biblical view of a saint is every true believer who has accepted Jesus Christ as their personal Lord and Savior. All 62 verses in the New Testament where "saint" is used applies to all the believers, not just to a select few. Another 36 verses in the Old Testament also applies to all of God's followers.

If you are a born-again Christian, and if you are a true lover of Jesus and are His follower, then YOU are a SAINT by Bible standards. Nobody prays to you, but you ARE eligible to pray for others in the name of Jesus.

If you are not one of the above (saints) then you are an AIN'T, not a Saint, because you "ain't got Jesus as your Savior."

Be a Saint, not an Ain't. Trust in Jesus Christ alone for your salvation.
