

HELEN SANDERS
7-12-2020
PROPHETIC WORD

For in this hour I am raising up those with the spirit of Daniel. For they have sought me in the quiet hours. They have sought me with their whole heart. They have sought me and are seeking me saith the Lord. For many have been dismayed in this hour but those with the spirit of Daniel will rise up and stand tall and take authority over the darkness and proclaim what they have heard in this hour saith the Lord. They will seek me with their whole heart. As they seek me, I shall reveal to them secrets of the hour the day and the season. For though they will declare my word, but many will not receive because of their pride. Those with the spirit of Daniel shall declare and the words shall go forth. Those with the spirit of Daniel will have bands broken off and will be brought out of the lions' den and bring many out of the fiery furnace. Those with the spirit of Daniel will not compromise. They will not back down; they will stand strong in my power and my anointing for the hour. They will be brought out of places and raised up when no one would have accounted them as anything saith the Lord. But because they have sought me, they shall be used of me in this hour to bring many the truth of the times, the season, the hours that you are about to see. They will speak what I tell them, and they shall declare those words and it shall be saith the Lord. They have been in the secret place and spent time there where my Spirit poured wisdom into them and made them the anointed person that I have willed them to be saith the Lord. For I will use those of this spirit in the hours days and season ahead to bring forth what I have decreed saith the Lord. They shall be my mouthpiece and will speak only what I tell them to say for they have sought me with their whole heart. They have put away the distractions of the world and have kept the faith saith the Lord.