

PROPHETIC WORD
AS GIVEN TO HELEN SANDERS
12-20-2020

As little children you were taught to Stop! Look! Listen! So, I would say unto you, my children, that today you would Stop and take time to Look unto me and Listen to what I have to say.

There are many voices speaking today, and many are listening to these voices, but I would say to you, Stop! Look to me! Listen to what I have to say. I am the one that will guide you into all truth by my Spirit. I am your high tower and strength. I alone will be the comfort that will sustain you in the times of trouble. I am your rearward and I am your armor. I am all that you need in this hour saith the Lord. Have you taken the time to Stop, look and Listen?

Have you taken the time to come apart and hear what I would say to you personally? I would say there is much happening in the spirit realm because there have been many words spoken that are rising up and falling flat because they are not of me. See these words as distractions from your hearing from me, and me alone. Many are looking unto the one that delivers words instead of the one that would speak the words directly.

Take heed, for all that say peace and safety surely are not of me. For this is a season that will be bring greater change than you have ever seen. I would say that the furnace is heating up so the gold can be truly refined. I would say this is the hour to be sharpened so you can be used by me to take the truth to those that need to hear it.

For, I would say again Stop! Look! Listen to me for I will guide you into all truth if you take the time to do it saith the Lord.
