THE DAY THAT CHANGED AMERICA

I am sure if I asked you where you were on September 11, 2001, you would remember because of what happened that day. I was at my home getting ready to go to work when one of my employees called and told me to turn on the television. As I turned it on, I saw the replay of the first airplane hitting the Twin Towers. Then as the camera was focusing on it, another plane hit the towers. At that moment the Lord spoke to my spirit and told me it was just the beginning. There would be more, and there were more.

This atrocity brought unity to America in a way that had not happened since World War II. People bonded and many started to go to church. There was fear of another attack so many started praying. Personally, I had the opportunity to witness to many people. I asked them if they had been in the tower and died would they go to heaven, and many said no, and I had the privilege to introduce them to Jesus Christ.

The church going lasted for a few weeks, and when there were no further attacks our nation went back to "normal." But things weren't normal. There was a war as a result of this attack and many things changed. Unfortunately, instead of revival coming out of this atrocity, there became complacency. People thought that things would be okay, but many things began to crumble.

A major prophet of God wrote a book called the Harbinger, describing what happens when a nation that was brought to its knees said, "I will rebuild." The book became a bestseller, and much of what was in that book has come to pass.

We now are at a turning point in America. What we once called good is now called evil. Many of our young adults that have been taught humanism in our public schools (and sometimes Christian schools too) are angry and chaos has hit America with fires and riots. Some cities have no protection because the police have been hated and many have quit. We are actually in another war my friends. The leadership of our country is mandating a vaccination that has not been thoroughly tested. I know people personally that took it and died. This is a war like no other. A plague was released on the world and many thousands of lives lost the battle with it. Again, this is war, not a random laboratory experiment.

The nation has succumbed to evil leadership that has instituted sin into every area. That which most Christians call evil, according to scripture anyway, has been called good. We are living in days like pre-World War II. Many are saying that if health care workers refuse the job that they should wear a tag stating so. It reminds me of the yellow stars that were put on people in Germany and then led to the slaughter.

America will never be the same. We need the Lord in America more than ever. We need people ready to put their lives on the line to make a stand for God and His word. Remember one of our founders said, "The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing." I choose to be one of the ones that does something. I pray that you will be too.
