CURTAIN CALL

When we sit back and think about the coming of the Lord, it will be the last act on the calendar for the bride of Christ. She will have done everything to prepare herself for her soon-coming husband. She will have made herself ready for his appearing. Everything she does will lead to the finale and then comes the curtain call.

The apostle Paul lived his life knowing that when he left his mortal body it was absent from the body and present with the Lord. Death did not scare him. He was prepared, knowing that he had “finished his race” and would see Jesus, face to face.

That day is drawing sooner than ever my friends. We must make ourselves ready like a bride would before the wedding. Everything that would cause a “wrinkle” in our wedding garment must be pressed out. The pressing takes heat, and many are feeling the heat. Don’t resist the heat. It is necessary in this season that we are in. Curtain call on the old, bringing in the new

Many will have family that turn against them. Many will have friends betray them, but it is all part of the “getting ready” for that curtain call. Don’t be surprised when God takes you in a different direction than you had planned. That’s another curtain call. After all, you have told him that you would do whatever he asks, so be prepared for sudden changes. There will be sudden moves, and sudden changes of work. Some will retire, and some will be called out of retirement and given new assignments. It is all part of the coming curtain call. One act is over and the next one is about to start! Be blessed
