YOU SHALL PREVAIL

This morning while in prayer I heard the Spirit say, "You shall prevail." I went to the scripture, and the Greek word for prevail means: to be able, to be of strength, to be whole and much work.

So many of you have been going through serious trials. The fire has been hotter than ever, but you have not failed these tests. You came through them stronger. You may not realize that you are stronger, but you have prevailed.

God is saying that those that have kept the faith through this season will advance. They have been weary, but they have prevailed by trusting God.

Also, it says to be whole. Some of you have been suffering physically along with your loved ones. This word is for you. Healing is yours. It is yours now. You have prevailed and you are made whole. Receive it now in the name of Jesus.

Some of you have been weakened through multiple emotional and physical attacks. You are being strengthened now in the name of Jesus. Receive!

You will continue the work God has called you to stronger than ever because you have prevailed! Believe and receive!

Oh, how God loves His children and wants you to know he has seen your prevailing faith and heard your prayers! He is manifesting your deliverance now in Jesus name. Believe and receive!
