CHOICES

Each of us is the product of what we have learned through our entire life. All that we are comes from knowledge and experience.

We can have superior intellect yet have no knowledge of God. We can have average intelligence yet know God so intimately that His power is manifested in our daily lives. To put it simply, life is a school. Each day we make the choice what we learn. We can turn to the Word of God as our instructor to know how to live life more abundantly, or we can live a do it yourself life and live with the consequences of not being instructed.

God has given us the freedom of choice. Each day we choose what to listen to, what to read, what to do with the 24 hours that He has given us. We can fill that time with things that are of no lasting value, or we can build our life on a foundation that will not fall when the storms of life come.

The choice is ours. We aren't forced to receive or believe, but my friend the consequences of our choices definitely make a difference in the results. Count your days as precious and fill them with things that will last.

It is the best choice! Be blessed
