NATIONAL COUNCIL OF NEGRO WOMEN

OUR MISSION

The National Council of Negro Women, Inc. (NCNW) is a council of national African-American women's organizations and community-based sections. Founded in 1935 by Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, the NCNW's mission is to lead, develop, and advocate for women of African descent as they support their families and communities. NCNW fulfills this purpose through research, advocacy, national and community-based services, programs on issues of health, education, and economic empowerment in the United States and Africa. With its 39 national affiliates and more than 240 sections, NCNW is a 501(c) 3 organization with an outreach to nearly four million women.

OUR MESSAGE

Consistent with our founder's vision, NCNW serves as a Nation's organization of organizations to extend the collective power and leadership of African-American women.

NCNW translates its philosophy of public education, community service and advocacy into activities designed to promote a number of benefits for our constituents including:

Disseminating information about issues affecting African-American women and their families.

Promoting healthy lifestyles and behaviors through health promotion and disease prevention projects.

Sponsoring events such as The Black Family Reunion Celebration to build on our strengths and traditional values.

Training and supporting women and youth in career development and community leadership.

Supporting economic development and entrepreneurship.

Providing mentoring and educational support to our young people.

The national office of NCNW acts as a central source for program planning and seeks to fill the gaps that exist in our communities. Through its core of volunteers in 34 states, NCNW addresses local needs through organized strategies to bring the added support of a network of thousands of women whose collective efforts enhance community service and actions

OUR LOCAL CHALLENGE

To provide African-American women and their families the information and tools to become self-sufficient.

2nd Thursday of each Month at 7:00 pm
