Haley Sprague, Double Bassist

I started playing double bass five years ago and joined the North Port Symphony's double bass section three years ago. The repertoire is my favorite part of NPS. NPS is a great environment to work through challenging masterworks in a supportive and low risk environment. My favorite pieces were Rachmaninoff's second symphony and Brahms' first symphony.

I was drawn to music because from the very beginning it required an incredible amount of focus. Music provided me with goals to work towards throughout middle and high school. I have come to love practicing and working to achieve exciting goals in all fields as a result of my experience in music. Music has also always helped me to communicate stories and emotions that are hard to describe in English. I find it very rewarding to perform and share my experiences with an audience through a medium that everyone can understand and relate to.
