The Hyatt Tamaya Tour participants will experience a unique and authentic journey into the ancient lands of the Tamayan people at Hyatt Regency Tamaya Resort and Spa. Nestled on 550 acres of the Native American Santa Ana Pueblo between the Sandia Mountains and the Rio Grande River, Tamaya is steeped in over one thousand years of rich history and culture. Tamaya offers activities to satisfy guests' comfort and relaxation; splash in one of the three sparkling, heated outdoor pools or just relax in a lounge chair under a sun umbrella, trail ride the local landscape along the banks of the Rio Grand or have the ultimate New Mexico golf experience on Tamaya's Twin Warriors Golf Course, designed and developed by Gary Panks with meticulous care and cultural sensitivity, Twin Warriors Golf Club offers both the championship golfer and the resort-style golfer a unique high-desert golfing experience. Wake up to breathtaking views of the Sandia Mountains or the Twin Warriors Golf Course from our luxury accommodations, showcasing traditional designs and enhanced with plush Hyatt Euro Pillowtop Posturepedic bed, large flat screen TV's, free Wi-Fi and spacious bathrooms. An unforgettable dining experience begins in The Corn Maiden with spectacular views of the Sandia Mountains. Get energized before golf on Twin Warriors with a healthy breakfast, or join your friends for a variety of cocktails and other beverages at the Atush Bar to celebrate another winning game. Tamaya will handle all special needs related to their guests comfort, recreational and lodging experience.

The Hotel Santa Fe, embodies a tradition-centric retreat that invites you to experience true hospitality in the city's only Native American owned hotel. It all began in 1988 when local business in the foothills of the Sangre de Cristo Mountains in which lies Santa Fe, a city renowned celebrating the cultural inheritance and pure spirit of the Pueblo people led to the opening of the Hotel Santa Fe in 1991, followed by the addition of The Hacienda in September 2001, lodging immersed in the purest Pueblo spirit of Santa Fe. From the moment of your arrival, greeted by the lilting notes of a Native flute, enjoy a truly authentic experience that's woven into the fabric of Santa Fe. The exclusive Hacienda lodging at Hotel Santa Fe offers a secluded retreat featuring lavish rooms with an extensive collection of Native American art artwork that reflects the beauty and traditions of its Southwest location representing New Mexico's nineteen pueblos and other tribes across the U.S. The Hacienda offers an exceptional guest experience enhanced by daily continental breakfast and receptions, a professional butler, private key access and premium amenities. For the ultimate Santa Fe experience, choose the hotel's Amaya Restaurant Fresh seasonal ingredients and local Pueblo and Northern New Mexican culinary traditions make Amaya one of downtown Santa Fe's favorite dining destinations Amaya's chefs source the best possible ingredients and blend them together to create contemporary menus with nods to the region's rich Native American history. Amaya's casual, inviting atmosphere encourages guests to linger on the restaurant's glass-enclosed patio, which opens to outdoor gardens during warmer months. Best of all is the hotel's central location within walking distance of the Santa Fe's historic district's crooked streets winding past adobe landmarks and home to the New Mexico History Museum.

The Pueblo of Jemez is a federally recognized tribe located in north-central New Mexico, approximately 50 miles northwest of Albuquerque. We are one of the remaining 19 pueblos of New Mexico, encompassing over 89,000 acres of land and home to over 3,400 tribal members. The people of Jemez cherish their ancestral traditions, and are proud to integrate their culture with modern society. The Pueblo of Jemez is not a gaming tribe (no casinos), however, visitors traveling through the area have become an important destination to enjoy and support the Pueblo demands for Jemez arts and crafts and offers the opportunity to view tribal festivities and dancing

A trip on the Sandia Peak Aerial Tramway transports you above deep canyons and breathtaking terrain a distance of 2.7 miles. See some of nature's more dramatic beauty unfold before you. At sunset the desert skies produce a spectacular array of color, and your vantage point from the observation deck atop 10,378 foot Sandia Peak in the Cibola National Forest affords an 11,000 square-mile panoramic view of the Rio Grande Valley and the Land of Enchantment. Located on the eastern edge of Albuquerque in the Sandia Foothills at the end of Tramway Road. The NM Ski Museum and Hall of Fame is located at the base of the tram.

Paako Ridge Golf Club is surrounded by the mountainous terrain and vegetation of the New Mexican high desert, Paa-Ko Ridge Golf Club is home to one of the most beautiful, challenging and award-winning courses in the U.S. which offers 27 holes situated on the east side of the Sandia Mountains, twenty minutes from Albuquerque and 45 minutes from Santa Fe. Given the Indian name "paa-ko," which means "root of the cottonwood tree, expect crisp air and a clear playing environment. All holes feature spectacular high-desert and mountain views, strong golf-shot values and a serenity not often found anymore. Expect an invigorating golf experience from light and colors changing by the hour from sunrise to sunset.

The Georgia O'Keeffe Museum, in Santa Fe, New Mexico, opened to the public in July 1997, eleven years after the death of our namesake artist. A visit to the O'Keeffe Museum offers insight not only into the artist's paintings, but also her creative process and the light and landscape that inspired her. O'Keeffe's images include abstractions, large-scale depictions of flowers, leaves, rocks, shells, bones and other natural forms, New York cityscapes and paintings of the unusual shapes and colors of architectural and landscape forms of northern New Mexico. Georgia O'Keeffe (1887-1986) was devoted to creating imagery that expressed what she called "the wideness and wonder of the world as I live in it." O'Keeffe's images. Easily recognizable as her own, include abstractions, large depictions of flowers.
