The Tour This is the classic Irish Golf Tour for first-time visitors as well as returning golfing veterans. You will fly into Shannon on the west coast of Ireland at dawn and make your way to Doonbeg Lodge for one night. Golf will begin with an afternoon round on Greg Norman’s well designed links at Doonbeg. Next morning it’s an early start to play the Lahinch championship course. After lunch, if willing, you can visit the dramatic Cliffs of Mohr before heading south to take the Tarbert Ferry over the River Shannon and the road to Ballybunion for a shot at the best known of all Irish courses, the world - famous Ballybunion. You will lodge at Teach de Broc situated handily on Ballybunion’s doorstep. Killarney’s Killeen House, famed for excellent Irish cuisine is the ideal base for a break in golf, to sightsee Killarney, perhaps visit the racetrack and enjoy some traditional Irish Music. From here you drive the Ring of Kerry to play Waterville Golf Links a majestic links just past Caherciveen, where you can buy the best Irish tweeds in the country. County Cork to the south east is next stop to play the dramatic, clifftop Old Head Golf Links, situated on a peninsula jutting two miles into the Atlantic; pray that it’s not foggy. After golf you stop in Cork for the night on the journey north at the Hayfield Manor Hotel, the city’s top hotel, ideally surrounded by pubs famed for traditional Irish entertainment. Next morning, continue north for your final golf round on Arnold Palmer’s scenic Tralee Golf Links, a fantastic finale to the tour. Your last night’s lodging the sporting Dunraven Arms, is well situated in the elegant village of Adare only twenty five minutes from Shannon International Airport and will ease your departure for home. Dunraven has a wonderful pub for a farewell-to-Ireland celebration.
