The Blue Train History

During the fading years of the 19th Century, the discovery of gold and diamonds drew thousands to the edge of the continent, and those lines of tempered steel began to bear the burden of industry, commerce, and society on the move. Soon, as the moneyed classes made their presence felt, the network added leisure travel to its list of duties, and in the slipstream of leisure came luxury. The Union Limited and Union Express began ferrying passengers between the mail ships of Cape Town harbor and the goldfields of the Witwatersrand, were the standard-bearers of steam-powered opulence the easy-living heyday of the 1920s, boasting everything from card tables to ceiling fans, to hot and cold water on tap.

A coat of royal blue and cream would later give the trains their distinctive livery, and it was from this line, in these shades, that The Blue Train – a “Palace on Wheels” – would ride the rails to legend. Withdrawn from service during the dark days of World War II, extensively refurbished and modernized in the Seventies and Nineties. In 1997 a new Blue Train was introduced and its traditional route between Cape Town and Pretoria was extended northwards to the Victoria Falls. In the following year a second identical train came into service, allowing The Blue Train to add to its destinations Hoedspruit on the western edge of the Kruger National Park, and Port Elizabeth at the eastern end of South Africa’s Garden Route. The Blue Train today defines a new era of luxury travel, making the switch from steam to electric and diesel, linking veld to sea, tradition to progress, with a sense of style, grace, and mesmerizing power that has never come close to being matched.

Jock Safari Lodge

A morning game drive or for a change engage a qualified walking guide for a Walking Safari. After a hearty breakfast, move through the veld at a leisurely pace to enjoy bush vistas of unsurpassed beauty and discovering one's place in the cycle of nature. The diversity of fauna and flora in this unique concession truly comes alive when viewed on foot. Guest safety is the walking guide's utmost concern nevertheless, they and will do everything possible to provide safely the opportunity for guests to experience the excitement of approaching species on foot.

Beside the big-five a wide variety of Bushveld Birds are spotted on walks as well as from the comfort of one's room or whilst lying next to the Rock Pool. Most common birdlife are Hornbills, Starlings, Boubou's, Shrikes and Woodpeckers to name but a few. Late summer (January and February) is an excellent time for birding in Kruger. Kruger attracts a diversity of birds because it straddles so many eco-zones. The tranquil atmosphere at Jock Lodge allows for unique birding opportunities as man slows down, finding the rhythm of nature and begins to truly observe.

The Amarula tree, so very African, can be seen overflowing with baboons plundering the juicy fruit while keeping a wary eye out for the leopard that abound in the Jock concession. Taste the Sour Plum and sense a taste explosion or spot the various plants with medicinal values for several common ills. The vast expanse of this wild land slows one down and with this inner peace comes an ability to really incite the senses. Every game drive and nature walk is a discovery of nature and the magic of Jock.

Pilgrim's Rest, named after the quaint historical mining town, featured so prominently in "Jock of the Bushveld" and still in existence today, was a place to rest, rejuvenate and restock. So too is the Relaxation Retreat at Jock Safari Lodge. The Pilgrims Rest Retreat offers an escape to enjoy some pampering. Awaken your senses and allow us to rejuvenate body, mind, and soul. Inspired by surrounding elements that guide us, our selection of body and beauty treatments cater for men and women
