Title: Sustaining Life?

What is life? How do we sustain life? Is it sustainable? The current human condition struggles to answer this question as mankind faces death with every breath. In this nation we are watching millions of people stream across the southern border. For what? A better life? Where are these people housed? Who is going to feed them. How do they care for their basic needs? The sanctuary cities are now all pushing back and saying we cannot take these people into our city and care for them. Is this life?

January 31, 2024 – Day 2,111,257 of the Crisis of Identity

Title: What is Sustainability?

When discussing this topic, we need to return to Babel. Mankind's attempt to organize himself in a global construction of his own identity to sustain this identity on the earth. There are multiple entities in the world today acting and working to build this same identity. To sustain their identity and define the idea of existence outside of the life Jehovah created in and for mankind. How do we recognize these entities, so that we can avoid the same adulteration that spawned the institution of Christianity. Will we overcome the world as Jesus has paved the way? Will we accept the truth as it was told through and exemplified in the life of Jesus? Will we obtain the life spoken of in the Genesis narrative and put away the knowledge of good and evil?
