

Surprise!
My Website is Finally Done!

...or is it?

*I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me.
Philippians 4:13*

I've got a riddle for you:

Q: How long does it take a clueless, non-techy gal to build and complete a website?

A: Forever. It doesn't ever get finished.

Here's the deal. I had a website for years, and it served its purpose. It eventually needed updating and then required a total overhaul. Time passed, and a dear friend challenged me to just get it done. I told her I would, so I began the task.

More time passed, as I fumbled and bumbled my way through what seemed like a never-ending process.

When the covid lockdown hit, I determined to finish the site, but by then, due to unavoidable factors, I had to change platforms and start all over from scratch. Argh. I am so not a website builder, and the project seemed futile at best.

But God kept at me, with the nudges growing more and more intense. He promised to strengthen me, as long as I did it all through Him. Then He surrounded me with the word "urgent", and I knew I had to get this thing done.

Countless hours later, I can announce with relief that my website is finally done!

Well, actually, it isn't really done, as in 100% finished.

The problem is, it will never be completely finalized. There's always more to add. There are more pages I want to create, new links to attach. There are additional Bible studies and testimonies to include.

So, here's the disclaimer: my website isn't truly done. It has imperfections, and there are unfinished tabs. It's a work in progress, but I'm going for it and taking the dare to move forward and publish it. If I don't do this now, it may never happen. I can only pray God will touch someone out there for His glory!

The moral of this story? If we keep waiting to 'do that thing' until everything is perfect, we may not end up doing it at all. If we are holding back on that step of faith because of concerns or fears, we'll likely not step out at all.

*I also see this experience as a picture of our own lives.
We ourselves are a work in progress.
God is not finished with us yet.
Although we make mistakes,
are rough around the edges,
and have far to go until perfection,
He still moves forward
and uses us for His purposes,
as if we are done.
Yet we aren't.*

"...being confident of this very thing,
that He who has begun a good work in you will complete it until the day of Jesus Christ..."
Philippians 1:6

Challenge: God is not done with you yet! Is it time to get something done that He has told you to do? Confirm He's told you to do it, and go for it. Feel free to get it done even if it isn't done, then go back and keep working on it until it is. Or until it's closer.

You can do it, if it's through Christ,
for it is He who strengthens us.
May many be touched by your positive impact on this world.
