WHERE HOPE AND HEALING BEGINS

KIDS HOUSE SPOTLIGHT

FSU MEDICAL PROGRAM PARTNERSHIP

Years ago, we had FSU medical students who spent time with us but FSU's medical director at that time decided to discontinue the program. Recently, a new FSU medical director reached out with a request to resume that relationship with us again! We are very fortunate to re-connect and regain this partnership with the FSU medical program!

FLORIDA GIVES

Recently, we participated in the Florida Blue Foundation's #FloridaGives social media campaign for Giving Tuesday, where we asked our Kids House supporters to share on social media why they were grateful for Kids House using the hashtag #FloridaGives. Well... WE WON! Kids House was one of five of the 501(c)3 Florida charities randomly selected to win $10,000 thanks to our social media efforts.

Check our submissions of our Top 10 Reasons why we're grateful to serve our community on the Kids House official Twitter page!

KIDS HOUSE ANNIVERSARIES

Juliette Kong 20 Years of service!

Juliette has been apart of the Kids House family since 2001 when she started as a new college graduate to our advocate department, and we have been fortunate to have her still with us 20 years later as our Chief Executive Officer!

PARENTS CORNER

WAYS TO SHOW LOVE AND AFFECTION

No matter what children say or do, they need to know that their parents love them. Families show they care in many different ways, figuring out what kind of love language works best for each member of the family is important. Family members can show their love through words such as "I love you" or "I'm happy we're in this family together." Some families may call each other nicknames and enjoy remembering family stories. Another way could be by physical touch such as giving hugs or cuddles. Acts of service can also show your love and be as simple as making a snack for one another or completing a task for them. Spending quality time together even if that means just watching television in the same room together is also a great way to show your affection. Lastly, gifts. A gift as simple as a "just because" card can show anyone that you were thinking of them.

VALENTINE'S FUN

Save old shoe boxes or tissue boxes and decorate them so that everyone has a homemade mailbox to receive valentines from family and friends. Use construction paper, markers, pom-poms, googly eyes, etc. More craft ideas include stringing heart garland, pipe cleaner bead hearts, and finger paint art. You can also make Valentine's treats like cookies or cupcakes to decorate as a family. An extra activity you can do to show your children how much you appreciate them by making them their very own Valentines' card from you.
