DESCRIPTION

"A friendly conversation" is a moving experience of authenticity in a safe environment creating opportunities for participants to learn to be more understanding, empathetic, and willing to embrace the differences in others, as we all strive to live in a more equitable world. What is equity, diversity, culture, and inclusion mean? How to have tough, yet necessary conversations? What are implicit and explicit bias? How does this translate to your organization, whether school, business, or government entity?

The workshop, "Road to Equity" will address topics, such as: Building Relationships, Professional and Appropriate Workplace Culture, Five Pillars to an Equitable Organization, Finding Your "Why" and How it Connects, Equitable Outcomes, Equitable Best Practices in Leadership, Culturally-Responsive Leadership, Culturally-Responsive Pedagogy, Culturally-Responsive Communication, All means All, and Leading with Intention in 2020.

Join our conversation to embark on a journey of self-awareness that leads to action + results!
All designed to help facilitate an experience to transform your organization on the path to peak performance.

DESCRIPTION

The Road to Equity presents Closing the Gap: Barriers to Learning

In 2003, Nelson Mandela proclaimed, "Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world." Knowing the importance of education and its power, education has the ability to change the narrative in the life of our students. However, in education, there is no one-size-fits-all algorithm that can be applied to ensure ALL students obtain their education despite us understanding its importance. The path to success for many of our students consists of roadblocks and detours that we have not had to experience ourselves. In this workshop, we discuss the different barriers to learning for students to help educators better meet the needs of their students. We go beyond the physical barriers and discover ways to become a #barrierbreaker.

Participants encouraged to interact, self-reflect, and be open to learning.

OUTCOME | RESULT

- Understand the layers of barriers to learning for students
- Analyze local, state, and national achievement gaps
- Identify and recognize bias and impact in personal and professional life
- Understand cultural differences as they relate to communication, team work, negotiation, background, and leadership
- Improved performance, morale, climate
- Identify areas of improvement and self-reflection
- Utilize statistical data to drive next steps
- Improved communication and understanding of cross-cultural differences
- Define and understand micro-aggression
- A personal and professional plan for organization
- Celebration of differences through guided conversations

DESCRIPTION

The Road to Equity presents The Five Pillars of an Equitable Classroom

What is equity and what does it have to do with education? What does equity look like, sound like, feel like?

The Center for Public Education defines the term as follows: "Equity is achieved when all students receive the resources they need so they graduate prepared for success after high school." Equity simply translates to "fairness." Despite the simplistic definition, the simple truth is that the achievement gap is not closing for a large amount of our students. In 2015-16, there were an estimated 3,827,100 public school teachers in the United States. Slightly more than 80 percent of them were white, while less than half of students were white. Source: National Center for Education Statistics

We are not in need of another teaching strategy for literacy or a magic formula to make students behave, we are in need of culturally-relevant pedagogy infused with culturally-relevant learning experiences. Educators are experts on their content, but never receive training on how to teach someone who does not look like them or come from the same background beyond physical differences (national origin, religion, disability, race, etc.). MK Results, LLC. and its team of collaborative educators seek to change the narrative by closing the achievement gap through culturally-relevant pedagogy.

Our engaging and dynamic training, equips educators and leaders with FIVE pillars to be #barrierbreakers in schools by changing the narrative and giving each student the access and opportunity to success without being clouded by biases, discrimination, low expectations, stereotypes, etc. Our experience is deeply-rooted in diversity and culturally-relevant pedagogy to meet the needs of all students regardless of race, socio-economic status, disability, language, religion, political affiliation, geographic location, etc.

DESCRIPTION

Being a teacher is an extremely challenging profession and highly underappreciated. Schools are failing left and right and teachers are getting burnt out quicker than ever. People are leaving the profession because of low salaries and crazy expectations with standardized testing. This book is to help educators reconnect to the real reasons they chose to teach. The principles of rigor, results, rti, leadership, and reflection implemented with love are essential for success as an educator. Along with these principles, there were key rules to follow in order to maintain personal career growth and find success in education. This book informs educator's on how to practice education with love which is quintessential to any educators progression.

Learn FIVE proven principles for success in education from our educational experts. Our program is designed to motive and inspire - reinvigorating the passion we have for education. Dr. Jones' primary mission is to build teams that work together to transformation organizations. He is focused on spreading knowledge, inspiration, and wisdom that can entertain, cultivate and inspire educators everywhere. He believes Nelson Mandela was right on the money when he said, "Education is the Most Powerful Weapon which you can use to change the world."

MK Results, LLC. is dedicated to preparing students for life beyond the classroom.

Set your student body up for success by ensuring your students (and parents) are provided with valuable information and tools upon graduation. Many students are making current decisions about their future without being educated on all their options. Our goal is to expose students to the various options available on their path to success and empower them through education and entertainment. Our interactive and student-centered content allow students to navigate and understand the multiple pathways to success (college, career, military). We believe the earlier students and parents are educated and exposed to information, the better they are to make informed decisions - saving time and money. MK Results, LLC. and its speakers are passionate educators ready to create an experience of learning through laughter and interaction. Which choices move you three spaces up? What choices move you two spaces back? And, what choices keep you in the same spot?

Our program aligns with the CCMR indicators and helps to transform mindsets to become college-ready. Contact us today!

OUTCOME | RESULT

- Create a college-ready campus culture
- Inspire students to find their strength and apply it to their life
- Appreciation of education
- Understand, discuss, and evaluate the advantages and disadvantages of each pathway
- Discover and explore success in under-represented subgroups (race, gender, disability)
- Explore and gain knowledge on the various choices and outcome
- Think critically about their future
- Learn from the experiences of real people who went through each pathway
- Understand the value and cost of post-secondary education
- Career Exploration
- Explain the importance of short-term and long-term planning

Parent workshops have a positive impact on the entire household. Regardless of race, income-level, religion, or politics, kids are kids. And, in today's ever-changing world, it can be overwhelming and you can feel like you are failing (especially if you have social media - the pressure!). Parent and Community Workshop Series are designed to empower families as advocates + partners in their child's education. Our workshops provide families with useful information on topics promoting positive and healthy partnerships to address the academic, social, and emotional needs of families.

MK Results, LLC. offers a learning opportunity to provide resources, knowledge, enrichment, and strategies to foster success at school and home. We understand the partnership of parent + school and want to help you find ways to advocate for your child. Workshops and seminars are designed to maximize learning, increase knowledge, and self-awareness.

Topics include an array of topics on parent workshops and effective best practices, bullying, digital citizenship, internet safety, college readiness, family dynamics, self-care, how children develop, learning styles, advocating for your student at school, barriers to learning, behavior management, building confidence in kids, life after graduation, and more! All topics can be viewed on the Parent Workshops attachment.

Book MK Results, LLC. for summer sessions or before and during the school the school year. Contracting opportunities available.
