

Jacqueline H. McGee

706-332-7094

3001 W 10th St., Unit411, Panama City, FL
32401

jmcgee817@gmail.com

Professional Profile

As a professional educator for 30 plus years, my background and education have permitted me a vantage point on both students and the system within which our public education occurs that are invaluable to the purpose of this organization.

- Extensive experience in Middle, Secondary, and Post-secondary education across many different certification areas
- Significant background in school improvement and delivery of appropriate inservice education
- Significant experience in developing and delivering online education
- Frequent user of simulations for classroom instruction

Professional Accomplishments

Varied across a career at both school and above school level experience

- Educational Technology leadership at the district and school levels
- School improvement leadership, school level
- Oversight of the rollout of interactive whiteboard technology for a school district of 19 schools to include purchasing, installation, and inservicing
- Classroom instruction based from a website permitting clear communication with students and parents
- Curriculum Development for a post-secondary program in the nation of Bahrain

Dates of Experience

2006-2010, District Educational Technologist, Isles District, Department of Defense Education Activity

1998-2006, Classroom Teacher and/or School-level Educational Technologist, Department of Defense Education Activity

1970-1998, Instructional experience in a variety of public and private school settings to include experience in Bahrain, Panama, and the United States

Education

EdS, (T-6) Certification, Columbus State University, 1999

MST, Master of Science in Teaching, Business Education, University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire, 1978

BA, English Language and Literature, Columbus College, 1970