PURSUING SUSTAINABILITY MEANS NEVER COMPROMISING.

For over fifty years, we've worked to perfect a continual cycle of environmental, social and economic improvements. The work continues.

As you'd expect, we source only the best environmentally low-impact materials to create beautiful products. We're also always exploring ways to eliminate manufacturing waste. Success is measured by our ability to reduce Wayflor's environmental footprint while improving quality. That's why we invite third parties to certify and monitor our pursuit of ever-higher standards.

By understanding what our clients require, we're better able to focus efforts improving our processes to meet the stringent global standards of today and surpass the challenges of tomorrow. We take community and communication very seriously.

Perhaps most important to our sustainability commitment is how our products perform over time. Products that maintain a "like new" appearance with vibrant color, stable structure and cleanability. After all, every year a floor is in service represents maximizing performance for you, even as it reduces pressure to consume new materials in manufacturing.
